New Models Run to Darker Hues as Compared With Those of the Two Previous Seasons.

FOREIGN MAKERS
HAVE NO DISPLAYS

Highest Priced Car Shown Sells at $6375 — Bodies of Most Machines Appear to Rest Lower.

Improved lines, new and more pleasing color combinations and other refinements in motor car construction were the principal features observed by prospective automobile buyers who visited the twenty-third annual St. Louis Automobile Show, which opened yesterday on the three garage floors of the Union Market Building.

The first day's attendance totalled 17,566, slightly less than last year, but exceeding all other first days for automobile shows here.

On the whole, the colors ran to darker tints than in the two previous shows, with a number of black cars included in the exhibits. In many cases the fenders were done in lighter shades than the bodies, and matching the wheels and body trimmings. Wire wheels predominated and nickel or chromium was in abundance as trimming for bodies and for spokes.

The car bodies of a higher head, part, appeared to rest lower than in past years, with longer and broader lines. A number of runabouts and coupes among the higher-priced machines had low, sweeping rear decks, which created the illusion of a higher head.
Most of the heavier cars carried two spare wheels set in the front fenders, adding to the appearance of breadth. Many of the cars were equipped with larger headlamps, with long barrels done in nickel or chromium.

Opening Is Delayed.
Due to delays in getting exhibits in place, opening of the show was delayed an hour until noon. During the earlier hours attendance was light, which was fortunate for such exhibitors as had to drive between exhibits up the ramps and set them in place.

Some of the delay was occasioned by the fact that many of the cars were rushed here from the Chicago Automobile Show, which closed Saturday night. It was late afternoon before the exhibitors were cleaned away and everything in order for the evening attendance.

In all, 327 distinct body styles were displayed in the passenger car exhibits of 20 St. Louis distributors handling 25 different makes of automobile. Commercial vehicles included eight kinds of trucks and various commercial and farm tractors. Trucks on display ranged from the three-quarter ton panel body type to large heavy duty trucks which barely cleared the ceilings.

Mechanically minded visitors found an unusual number of open chassis with engines running.
About 15 of the exhibitors had set up such displays equipped with "windows" and lights so that those interested could watch the quiet and steady movement of pistons and gears.

No Foreign Cars Shown.
For the first time in many years, no expensive foreign cars were in the show and no car was found with a price as high as $10,000.
The costliest machine, perhaps, was Cadillac's $6375 Fleetwood all-weather phaeton coupe, a five-seater, done in Galvalume gray with stripping and wire spokes in margold yellow. Black leather upholstery and silver trimmings completed this novel job.

Stutz featured an unusual Blackhawk with body in Hupmobile painted and refurbished for the occasion. In the center of its group of new cars, as a silent demonstration of the great progress that had been made in motor car construction.

The low-priced cars, as always,
were a center of attention, particularly Chevrolet and its exhibit of various new six-cylinder models.
Ford dealers featured special color jobs and a new cabriolet with folding top.

Pontiac displayed its new and imposing line with which it boasts entry into the "big car field." Chrysler offered its line of new Dodge models in dark colors and black and carrying a surprising air of dignity and power. Hudson Exhibitors featured the first showing of an Essex phaeton "36" done in orange and black along torpedo lines.

Trucks and low-priced cars, for the most part, occupied the first exhibit floor and the higher-priced

Indian and Wife Whose Marriage Is Being Investigated by Senate

MR. AND MRS. JACKSON BARNETT.

Cars were shown on the two upper floors. The outer walls of the fourth floor were lined with the booths of 62 exhibitors of accessories, supplies, parts and shop equipment.

Ford's New Taxicab.
In the truck area, a huge special-bodied truck of a furniture company towed over a small three-quarter ton delivery truck equipped with show windows in the sides.
The new Ford taxicab, built for four passengers, was in this group.

Other exhibits included motor cycles, phonographs, radio and "dry" ice, which accessory dealers displayed from their side lines.
The Automobile Show Committee this year went to considerable expense decorating the ceilings and pillars with bunting of blue and red and gold, and dressing the walls of the ramps with imitation tapestries in similar colors.

Robert E. Lee, secretary-manager of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association, is again manager of the show, as he has been for the past 20 years. Entrance to the show is at Broadway and Lucas avenue by way of the ramp leading from the street to the second floor. At the top of the ramp, ticket offices are maintained although a large part of the visitors come with complimentary tickets distributed by dealers. The show will continue daily from 11
a. m. to 11 p. m. through Saturday.

Dealers' Meetings a Feature of Automobile Show.
Dealing meetings always an auto show feature started at 8 a. m. yesterday when the Vesper-Buick Auto Co. gave a breakfast at the Coronado Hotel for Buick salesmen of the St. Louis area. F. W. A. Vesper, president of the firm discussed the New York and Chicago automobile shows.

Sales of Graham-Paige cars increased in 1928 from 22,485 to 73-195, and in the past 15 months the Graham Brothers have spent more than $7,000,000 on buildings and equipment to increase factory production capacity from 300 to 200 cars a day. So the Graham-Paige dealers of this district were informed yesterday at a meeting yesterday afternoon and banquet at which they were guests of the Graham-Paige Motor Corp. F. R. Val-pey, general sales manager of the Graham-Paige Motor Corporation, was the principal speaker. Sol W.
Gross, president and general manager of the Gross-Buick Co. John Butler, vice president of the firm;
H. Rasley, Graham-Paige district manager, and H. McNally, executive secretary of the Graham-Paige Legion, also spoke. McNally presented Graham-Paige Legion buttons to 27 employees of the Gross-Butler Co.

A meeting of Auburn dealers was held today at Hotel Statler, with Neil E. McDarby, sales manager of the Auburn factory, as speaker, and Frank Riley, manager of the Auburn-St. Louis Co., presiding.
George M. Graham, vice president of the Willys-Overland, Inc., is to speak tonight at a meeting and banquet of Whippet and Willys-Knight dealers at the Coronado Hotel. A. Elliot, zone sales manager, will preside. E. D.
Knowles, regional manager, is to speak from Kansas City to attend.
More than 500 dealers are expected to be present. Graham is to outline the expansion program of Willys-Overland which calls for production in the first three months of this year of as many Whippets and Willys-Knights as in the first six months of 1928.

A convention and conference of Chevrolet dealers is set for 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Odeon.

Hupmobile dealers will meet at noon tomorrow at the Claridge Hotel as guests of the Weber Implement and Automobile Co.
Chrysler and Plymouth dealers will meet at noon tomorrow at the Coronado Hotel with the Midwest Motors, Inc., distributor.

A meeting of Studebaker dealers is to begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow at Hotel Jefferson. The Studebaker

MRS. BARNETT AGAIN REFUSES TO TESTIFY

Wife of Wealthy Indian, Denied Immunity by Senate Committee, Won't Talk.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Mrs.
Jackson Barnett stood by her previous refusal to waive immunity and again declined to testify today before a Senate committee investigating her marriage to the wealthy Creek Indian.

"That ends it as far as her testimony is concerned," Senator Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, said, and the hearing was adjourned.
Wheeler yesterday objected to Mrs. Barnett testifying without waiving immunity on the ground that it might interfere with the Department of Justice in preparation of a "possible case" against her.

Wheeler received a telegram from John Fitzgerald, Omaha newspaper man, in which the latter said he would be willing to appear to tell what he knew of the marriage. In the telegram Fitzgerald said that he "chased" the couple for five days after the marriage and that during that time Barnett was under constant guard of deputy sheriffs procured by Mrs.
Barnett's attorneys. Fitzgerald will be asked to appear, Wheeler said.

Charges that Barnett was kidnaped at the time of his marriage have figured frequently in the case.

Made wealthy by a gushing Oklahoma oil well, Barnett admitted yesterday before his white wife that she proposed to him on their second meeting. The wife, when called to the stand yesterday refused to waive immunity.

Much of the Indian's story was a repetition of "I don't know" but now and then he answered more fully the questions asked him.
The courts have declared him incompetent. He came to Washington with his wife in response to a subpoena.

Once Senator Pine (Rep.) of Oklahoma asked him whether he knew the difference between a $5 and a $20 bill. His answer, "Do you?" drew a roar of laughter from the spectators who crowded the committee room.

Then Senator Thomas (Dem.) of Oklahoma showed him a photograph of himself and asked him to identify it. Barnett, after a pause, apparently decided the question was a joke and refused to answer.
"Anybody tell you that the American Baptist Home Mission Society wanted some of your money?" Wheeler asked.

"A preacher did," Barnett answered. "He said he had started building a house and couldn't finish it and wanted some money."

"Did you give it to him?"
"Yes, I told him he could have what he wanted."

This donation, amounting to $500,000, which was approved by the Bureau of Indian Affairs, was set aside by the courts along with a similar donation to his wife, who had been twice married before she went to the Indian's shack in Oklahoma and took him away with "another fellow" whom Barnett said he did not know. The Baptist money was to be used at Bacons

HANNIBAL HOTEL OWNER, 18 OTHERS, HELD BY DRY AGENTS

By the Associated Press.
HANNIBAL, Mo., Feb. 5.—Sixteen Federal prohibition agents led by Administrator James Dillon of St. Louis came here today and in a series of raids arrested 18 persons.

Those taken included Louis J.
Huegel, owner of the Mark Twain Hotel, Hannibal's largest hotel; Albert Hoffman, a druggist, and five women.

and he described this as "an eternal message on the minds and brains of men."

"If we can have an understanding as to the use of the seas," said Borah, "we will remove one of the conditions most calculated to bring on conflict."

The Retort Counters.
After the vote on the amendment, Bruce rose and said that he "would rather be right than President."

"The Senator from Maryland," replied Kelly (Dem.) of West Virginia, "will never be invited to the White House."

Without a record vote, the Senate also rejected an amendment by Senator Bingham (Rep.) Connecticut, proposing to increase the authorization for aircraft carriers from one to three.

The Senate rejected another amendment by Senator Norris, to authorize the President to invite Great Britain to a naval conference with a view to limiting the number of cruisers. This amendment would have suspended the American construction program immediately upon acceptance of the invitation by the British. The vote was 70 to 9.

Bruce and Hefflin Clash.
Bruce accused Hefflin (Dem.) of Alabama, of having obtained information from the Ku Klux Klan for an amendment proposed to the bill which would prohibit the flying of the chaplain's church flag at the Sunday service over the American emblem. Bruce declared Hefflin objected to the chaplain's flag because it looked like the emblem of the Catholic church.

"Well, if the Senator wants me to go on record as to that," Hefflin declared, "I will do so, but I don't want to take the Senate's time. I contend that no flag should be flown over the American flag, no matter what it is."

Bruce then accused Hefflin of having obtained his inspiration from the Klan to which the Alabama senator retorted: "Just because the Senator gets his inspiration from the Knights of Columbus, he shouldn't think I get mine from the Klan."

JANITOR CLEANING UP AT CITY HALL PICKS UP $3100

Gets $25 for Returning Money Dropped by Bank Clerks.

Dan Green, Negro messenger for City Collector Kocin, found $3100 in currency last night while cleaning up the State Automobile License Bureau at City Hall after a busy day.

He arrived with his broom at 9 o'clock and was tossing empty license cartons into the hall when he picked up one which felt heavier than the others. He looked inside and found a package of bills, neatly bound with rubber bands and labeled "$3100." It was more money than Green had ever seen before during his 20 years at the City Hall.

"It must belong to the boss," he thought, and placed the package carefully in the drawer of a desk.
Two hours later Green was finishing his work when clerks from the Natural Bridge Bank the official State depository for automobile license funds, burst into the building. When the license bureau closed they had signed receipts for $22,000 and a check at the bank had shown they were short $3100.
After explanations, Green handed over the package which apparently had fallen into the carton from the edge of a desk. Green received a reward of $25 from the bank and is quite satisfied.

POPE GETS ITALY
TO ACCEPT CANON

"that the Government will undertake to enforce canon law, but that is outright union of church and State, and is, of course, out of the question."

"Canon law, he defined as a code of legislation for the government of the church. It embraces such things as the obligation of Catholics to hear mass on Sunday and to abstain from meat on Friday.
It sought to restore the view that marriage was a religious bond, which it finally did by making marriage one of the sacraments of the church. It was forced, however, to still recognize that consent, or contract, was the essential means of entering the marriage relation.

The Protestant reformers put forth the idea that marriage was a civil relation rather than a religious bond or sacrament, to be created by the state and broken by the state. In reaction to this view the Roman Catholic Council of Trent in 1563 declared that a valid

Flu Epidemic in Britain Nearly as Bad as in 1918

Deaths, However, Are Fewer—Many Shows Handicapped by Players' Illness—Disease
Also Prevalent in France.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

(Copyright, 1929 by the New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The influenza epidemic in England the last few days has threatened to equal the one of 1918 in the number of cases, although the deaths have not been numerous enough to cause undue worry here. The number of those stricken was reported increasing, although the disease is of a minor type. In many instances influenza cases are turning to bronchial pneumonia.

A shortage of nurses has been reported and physicians are being overworked. London was afflicted by the milder later than America and continental Europe, and it was only the last few days that the number of cases reached the proportions of an epidemic.

The peculiarities of the epidemic are that open air workers are more of the victims than clerks and office workers. Bus facilities have been curtailed because of insufficient help.

The theatrical district has been seriously affected. J. E. Malone, a producer, died while rehearsing his musical show, in which half of the principals are ill. Nearly every London production is struggling with short-handed casts. One play, "Florence Nightingale," is attempting to run with many understudies and principals ill. The author of the play, Reginald Berkeley, a former member of Parliament, is taking a small role to assist his producers during the crisis.

Dame Nellie Melba, famous prima donna, is recovering from influenza.

British Envoy, Petain, Doumergue
Have the Flu in France.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Feb. 5.—Influenza continues to tax hospital accommodations. One of the latest victims was Sir William G. Tyrrell, British Ambassador. Another was Marshal Henri Petain, commander-in-chief of the French armies in the World War.

President Doumergue yesterday had to cancel engagements because of a light attack of influenza, but he was well enough late in the afternoon to preside at the drawing for the Davis Cup contests.

S. Parker Gilbert, agent-general of reparations, was much better last night. He was taken ill late last week.

Raymond Poincare, Prime Minister, caught a cold Saturday. In a letter in which he excused himself from attending a banquet Sunday night, he said he had decided "to condemn himself to be shut up for a day or two in the gentle society of warm drinks."

marriage could only be created by the church and only annulled by the church. This still remains the Roman Catholic view of marriage.

The later Roman view that marriage is a private contract, to be created and broken by individuals as any other contract, has shown a tendency to revive in modern nations, and was specifically revived by statutes in France and Italy and elsewhere in controversies between the church and state. Civil marriage was made compulsory.

TODAY—MORE EMPHATICALLY THAN EVER BEFORE—CADILLAC-LA SALLE ARE REVEALED TO BE THE ONLY QUALITY STANDARDS FOR THE COMPARISON OF MOTOR CARS

It is inevitable that your visit to the Automobile Show should clearly disclose the two cars occupying the highest quality position. The Cadillac Motor Car Company would feel that it had failed of its trust—failed to justify its position of supremacy—were Cadillac and La Salle not immediately conceded this obvious distingtion. But they are. And that they are the highest quality motor cars in the world is actually and literally true—so true that it needs no proof. Your own eyes see it. Your own critical judgment experiences it the moment you step into Cadillac or La Salle from some car aspiring to place itself in the same class.

CONSIDER, for a moment, the matter of safety alone. See if you can find, at the Show, any other cars so adequately designed to meet 1929 traffic conditions.

A gear-shift that has been deliberately planned for your protection in congested traffic and for sharp hilly inclines and declines along country roads... The Cadillac-La Salle Synco-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission permits instantaneous shifting of gears—at a finger touch—without pausing in neutral —and without the slightest suggestion of clashing.

The Cadillac-La Salle Duplex-Mechanical System of Four-Wheel Brakes is the most costly, scientific, efficient and dependable braking system ever developed.

These brakes are amazingly powerful and positive in action yet instantly responsive to the slightest touch of the foot on the brake pedal.

Cadillac-La Salle Security-Plate Glass is one of the most modern provisions for your safety. In the doors, windows and windshields of the new Cadillac and La Salle no other glass is used. And it is exclusive with Cadillac and La Salle. It remains intact if broken, so that you may forever dismiss from your mind the fear of being injured by flying glass fragments.

You know full well there are no smarter, no more luxurious cars on the road than Cadillac and La Salle.
Now step into one of these cars and drive it. You will immediately conclude that if you want a car to ride and drive as Cadillac and La Salle ride and drive you must eliminate everything else from consideration. Any Cadillac-La Salle dealer will gladly place a Cadillac or La Salle at your disposal. Just telephone.

SAVES SHIP AND CREW, CALLS IT ROUTINE JOB

Philadelphia Skipper Reports Rescue of Freighter With 30 Aboard Off Hatteras.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—A ship's master who considers the rescue of a crew of 30 men and their ship as scarcely worth mentioning landed here last night after getting to port.

Capt. John H. Parks of this city in command of the E. Hutton, an oil tanker plying between Philadelphia and Smith's Bluffs, Tex., arriving here, admitted to ques-tioners that he had salvaged the Norwegian freighter Dagfin of Oslo, 12 miles off Cape Hatteras last Saturday and rescued Capt. A. F. Jonson and his crew of 29. He said, however, that "it was a routine salvage job and so easy I hardly mention it, only I thought maybe I'd better explain why I'm 24 hours late getting to port."

The Dagfin, a coal burner, ran out of fuel after battling two days during a three-day gale and with her radio out of commission, was drifting helplessly.

Capt. Parks sighted the distress signals Saturday and went to the freighter's aid. He got a line on the Dagfin and towed her to Hampton Roads, then came on to Philadelphia.

CHRISTIAN P. BELL REVISITS ST. LOUIS WITH FIFTH WIFE

Son of Col. Nicholas M. Bell is at Present a Captain in the Volunteers of America.

WED FIVE TIMES IN LAST TEN YEARS

Divorced by Four Women, One of Whom Brought $100,000 Alienation Suit Against His Father.

Christian Peter Bell, son of Col. Nicholas M. Bell, whose marital difficulties in four marriages have extended over the last 10 years, is visiting at his father's home in St. Louis today with his fifth wife.

Bell is now a Captain in the Volunteers of America, an evangelistic organization similar to the Salvation Army, and his wife whom he married six months ago in Atlanta, Ga., also is a worker in that organization.

Bell, who is 35 years old, was divorced by his first wife in April, 1918, and was married five days later to his second wife, Hazel W. Bell, who divorced him two years later on the grounds of excessive drinking. Four months later he married his third wife, Mrs. Hattie Greer Bell. In May, 1923, eight months after their marriage, he was sentenced to a year in the workhouse for failure to support her, but was paroled on his promise to pay her $40 a month. She obtained a divorce.

An alienation of affections suit for $100,000 was brought in 1925 against the 86-year-old father by Christian's partner in his fourth matrimonial venture, Mrs. Daphne Doyle Bell. Christian and Daphne Doyle were married in 1923 at Texarkana, Ark. Soon after they took up their residence at the Bell home, 4442 West Pine boulevard, they were separated, and the alienation suit by Mrs. Bell followed.

"All those other marriages were mistakes," Christian told a reporter today. "This one is going to 'take.' Everyone knows that I used to drink a lot, but I'm all right now. My work in the Volunteers of America, for the last four years, has made me a better man."

"My wife is also a Captain in the Volunteers of America, and we have worked together for several years. She is 22 years old, and we will continue our work together, for the time at least. When I was married before, I had some money, and the women I married knew it. This time it's different."

The elder Bell, veteran Democratic politician, assemblyman, and first Excise Commissioner of St. Louis, told reporters in 1925 that his son a few years before had received $25,000 from the estate of an uncle, Frederick Pepper, and would receive $200,000 from the estate of his grandfather, Christian Pepper, tobacco dealer. The latter inheritance was the subject of litigation.

Bell and his wife will depart tonight for their home in Atlanta.

MARSHAL FOCH HAS ATTACK OF INDIGESTION, FEVER RISES

General Condition Said to Be Satisfactory, but New Kidney Complications Are Feared.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Feb. 5.—Marshal Foch slept some last night after an attack of indigestion had disturbed his earlier hours, his physicians, Drs. Daveniere and Huet-Boyer, said this morning. The attack left the Marshal tired and with an increased temperature, they said. His general condition was described as stationary.

While the physicians were guarded in their discussion of the case it was learned that new kidney complications are feared. It was said today another specialist might be called in during the day.

Shortly after the Marshal awoke this morning he peremptorily ordered certain maps from the geographic section of the war cabinet brought to him. The doctors tried to dissuade him, but he was adamant.

When the maps arrived he spread them out on his bed and began working today in a motor problem of his own.

"It really rests me," he said.

PHILIP NORTH MOORE BEING BROUGHT HOME FROM ROLLA

Widely Known Mining Engineer, 80, Suffered Stroke of Paralysis on Business Trip.

Philip North Moore, widely known mining engineer, who suffered a stroke of paralysis on his left side while on a recent business trip to Rolla, Mo., is being brought home today in a motor ambulance. He is accompanied by Mrs. Moore.

Mr. Moore resides at 3414 Hawthorne boulevard and has offices in the Merchants-Laclede Building. He is 80 years old.

Daniel King Goes to Madrid. PARIS, Feb. 5.—Despite continued rumors of disorders in Spain King Christian and Queen Alexandra of Denmark, who have been here inognito for several days, left this morning for Madrid, where they will visit the Spanish court.

Catches Nicaraguan Rebel Leader

LIEUT. HERMANN H. HANNEKEN.

Lt. Hanneken's Capture of Sandino Aid Recalls His Two Heroic Feats Against Haitian Terrorists

St. Louis Showed Ingenuity as Well as Courage in Wiping Out Charlemagne Peralte's Band in 1919-20.

FIRST LIEUTENANT HERMAN H. HANNEKEN was running true to form the other day when he captured the Nicaraguan revolutionary leader, Manuel Maria Jiron. It was the third time this St. Louis Marine, a cool exponent of single-handed courage and a virtuoso of tropical intrigue, had "got his man" in a style to win international notice.

In little more than three weeks Lieut. Hanneken hunted out the revolutionist, who had been lurking in the Department of Jinotega since his attack on American mining property last April. Jiron, one of the leading Sandino chieftains in Northern Nicaragua, captured La Luz y Los Angeles mine and Bonanza mine in the Pispis River district, and was reported to have carried off $1500 cash and $8700 in supplies.

A body identified as that of George Marshall, assistant manager of La Luz y Los Angeles mine, was found in the jungle near Coco River. It was reported that he had been shot by his captors but Marine headquarters later concluded he had died of malaria. Since then Jiron had stuck to cover, venturing out only to raid an occasional coffee plantation, until he fell into the hands of the St. Louis marine. Details of the capture have not reached Washington.

Back in November, 1919, Lieut. Hanneken led 19 men against 100 to surprise and kill Charlemagne Peralte, officially called "the supreme bandit of the Republic of Haiti." Five months later he led three against 16—the picked riflemen remaining from the bands of Charlemagne—to take the chief remaining leader, Oisris Joseph.

For the second he received the Navy Cross, and for the first the Congressional Medal of Honor, the Government's highest award. And the sheer hardihood of the feats themselves was no more amazing than the months of Machiavellian scheming that led up to them.

Priesthood appeared the goal of Lieut. Hanneken's early training. For he was educated, to the age of 15, at Kenrick Seminary here. He was regarded especially proficient in classical languages. But 15 years ago he enlisted in the Marines, and there is every indication that he's getting along.

His First Exploit. In his first outstanding brush with Haitian bandits he was after Charlemagne Massena Peralte and a horde of ragged but predatory "Cacos" who had terrorized Haiti for 18 months. The accomplishment took an hour's march and one revolver shot, but the planning occupied three months.

The Marine had a loyal native organizer a false bandit camp, and made it life-like to the extent of thrice attacking it. Charlemagne's suspicions were lulled, and he joined forces with the trusted native to attack Grande Riviere, where Lieut. Hanneken had headquarters. Charlemagne was waiting the outcome with his bodyguard of 100 picked men, and the native told Lieut. Hanneken where to find them.

With 18 picked natives, the Lieut. and the late Sergt. William B. Button of 4223 Manchester avenue, who also received the Congressional Medal of Honor before his death of malaria in April, 1921, set out for Charlemagne's camp. Sergt. Button and Lieut. Hanneken blackened their faces and donned rags. Five outposts had to be passed. The fifth started to raise his revolver, but let Hanneken pass, and then noticed Sergt. Button's automatic rifle, caught his arm and demanded where the fine weapon came from. The Lieut. turned, but realized a shot would defeat his purpose. "Let me go," said Sergt. Button. "Don't you see my chief is getting away from me?" And, wrestling his arm free, he went on.

Charlemagne's Capture.

"About 30 paces away," Lieut. Hanneken related, as told in the Post-Dispatch on May 17, 1922, "I saw a man and a woman bending over a small fire. I recognized the man as Charlemagne. He was on the far side of the fire and peered over it toward us. He could not see us clearly, but he was sharply outlined. At his right, at about 40 feet, were his guard of 100. On the immediate right and left were sentries. As the sentries halted Button and me at 12 paces from their chief, I raised my revolver and fired at Button, and he turned his automatic rifle into the guard. They scattered. Someone, probably the woman, kicked the fire about and plunged us into darkness. I groped about until I found a body. It was that of Charlemagne. He had been shot once—through the heart."

To run down Oisris Joseph, the resourceful Marine arranged an "escape" for an imprisoned native deserter, promising that the remaining four years of his five-year term would be remitted if he would join Oisris and report his whereabouts. Oisris had hundreds of "cacos" at his command, but had escaped detection by remaining aloof from them with 15 selected guards. The "escaped" deserter, who had much to say of the hatred bred by his imprisonment, was welcomed to Oisris' camp.

Spy Wounded by Own Men. In another three months of scheming, in the course of which the deserter once was wounded by a gendarme, for Lieut. Hanneken

LINDBERGH LANDS IN MANAGUA AFTER HONDURAS FLIGHT

Covers 500 Miles on Second Day of Panama Air Mail Run, From Belize Bay by Way of Tela.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MANAGUA, Nic., Feb. 5.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, flying the Miami-Panama mail plane, arrived here at 3 p. m. local time (2:45 p. m. St. Louis time).

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, Feb. 5.—The Tropical Radio and Telegraph Co. headquarters here was advised that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh passed over Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras, at 1:45 p. m. Eastern standard time, today, on his way to Managua, Nicaragua.

Col. Lindbergh left Belize, British Honduras, at 8:10 o'clock this morning. He landed at Tela, Honduras, at 9:43 o'clock and after a stop of 57 minutes, took off southward.

By the Associated Press. BELIZE, British Honduras, Feb. 5.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, starting the second leg of his inaugural air mail flight to Panama, hopped off from Belize at 9:10 o'clock this morning. (8:10 a. m. St. Louis time.)

During his stay here yesterday Col. Lindbergh, who is well known in Belize, where he stopped last year on his famous good will flight to Central America, was feted cordially, despite his desire to make his trip purely a business affair.

His schedule tomorrow calls for an early takeoff at Managua and a fueling stop at Punta Arenas, Costa Rica. He expects to arrive at Cristobal tomorrow afternoon, and remain in Panama until ready to retrace his route next week.

A slight mishap marred the arrival of his plane here yesterday, but it was inconsequential and did not dislodge the machine. He alighted gracefully on the waters of the bay here, but in climbing the specially made ramp from the water to a platform on the beach he ran over the edge of the platform and his plane bogged in the mud. It was necessary to dig the mud from around the wheels, place boards beneath them and pull the machine out with a tractor.

RADIO COMMISSION APPROVED House Committee Unanimously Favors Board for Year.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—By a unanimous vote, the House Merchant Marine Committee today approved the White bill to extend the life of the Federal Radio Commission as an administrative body for another year.

Heard not disclose his plans even to his aids, the spy stole into Hanneken's camp and said he knew the location of Oisris' next camp in the mountains. From his 150 men the Lieutenant selected the deserter and another native, smeared his own face with lamp black, dressed in rough clothing and set out. At sight of a distant campfire they dropped down among the brambles and began to crawl.

"After about an hour we got right in among the bandits," related the Lieutenant, as told in the Post-Dispatch, Aug. 14, 1921. "There were about 15 of them. Some were sprawled on the ground asleep. Oisris Joseph and two or three others were sitting near the fire talking."

"They hadn't the least suspicion of our presence until suddenly we leaped up from the ground in their midst. Oisris sprang to his feet. He had his rifle, but never had a chance to use it. I made for him and at 15 feet let him have it with my revolver."

"I fired three times and Oisris dropped. My companions cut loose at the others with their carbines. They were taken by surprise and we had the go on them. Some of them returned our fire, but none of us was hit. In a moment they had turned tail and run into the bush."

"Do I like the service?" Lieut. Hanneken responded to a question in that interview. "Well, I'm in it and expect to stay in it. That ought to show whether I like it."

KNOX COLLEGE STUDENT ADMITS $50,000 ROBBERY

David Hamamoto, in Confession to Galesburg, Ill., Police Implicates Winfield Scott, a Senior.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. GALESBURG, Ill., Feb. 5.—David Hamamoto, 24-year old Hawaiian student at Knox College, arrested today in connection with the recent $50,000 robbery of the Steinfeld jewelry store here, the looting of the Lombard College safe and the robbery of the Baird Drug Store, a postoffice substitution, made a complete confession and implicated Winfield Scott, a senior at Knox, as his companion police announced.

According to his confession, Mrs. Joe Jacoby of this city and Scott's brother, Clarence, a student at the University of Missouri knew of the thefts and received some of the loot. Police recovered jewelry stolen from the Steinfeld store when they found Mrs. Jacoby ill at a hospital in Burlington, Ia., and found in Clarence Scott's room at Columbia, Mo., a bag of loot from the drug store and the post office. Clarence Scott said the bag had been sent by his brother and denied he knew what was in it.

Caught in Robbery.

Winfield Scott, who roomed with the Hawaiian until he left here after Christmas, was arrested in Quincy a few weeks ago while attempting to rob a jewelry store there. He was sentenced to serve from one year to life in Chester Penitentiary on that burglary charge and is now in prison at Chester. He confessed robbing the Baird drug store and the post office station but refused to implicate anyone else and denied he had a part in the other robberies here, when he was questioned in jail at Quincy.

In the Lombard robbery, the college safe was rifled of papers valuable only to school authorities, and about $100 in cash. The Hawaiian's confession said school records stolen from Lombard where Clarence Scott was formerly a student, were taken to Columbia, Mo. The

BELLEVILLE DROPS THEFT INSURANCE ON POLICE PATROL

City Council Also Decides Fire Policy for Engine Houses Is Unnecessary.

Confronted with the incontrovertible argument that a fire engine house is the most unlikely place in a city for a destructive fire, the City Council of Belleville deliberated last night and voted to cancel its fire insurance on the two engine houses of the municipal fire department.

The success of its resolution and the hearty support accorded by the members of the Good-Government-at-Least-Cost party, emboldened the Special Insurance Committee to go a step further and ask, "Who would steal the Police Department's patrol wagon?" Cancellation of theft insurance on the patrol also was voted.

The wave of economy swept on to the City Hospital. A resolution calling for the replacement of glass in broken windows on a street car and the grounds of needless expenses, Belleville also has a Best-Government-at-Least-Cost party.

Street Car Runs Wild; Two Killed. CINCINNATI, Feb. 5.—A broken air line caused by a collision with an ash cart here today, made useless the air brakes on a street car and it careened down a steep hill, jumped the track at a curve, crashed into a three-story brick building. Two passengers were killed. Nearly 20 were injured.

Changes Made Gained Clarence Scott additional credits and permitted him to enter Missouri as a senior instead of a junior, the confession said.

Pawned in St. Louis.

Hamamoto told officers he sent part of his share of the loot to a woman in Los Angeles and to a woman in Galesburg. Scott, he declared, provided Mrs. Jacoby with jewelry and cash. The rest of the loot was pawned in St. Louis, according to the confession. Scott was named recently as co-responsible in a divorce suit filed by Joe Jacoby, a railroad man. Scott formerly earned some of his college expenses by firing the furnace in the Jacoby home.

To get reverses needed in their crime careers the youths raided the Knox Reserve Officers' supply house, Hamamoto said.

A detective from a Chicago agency was sent here to assist local officers and the confession was made to him. Police Chief John Swickard and Sheriff Frank Hooker, it is announced.

MRS. DEARING NO. 2 WANTS HER $12 BACK

Says She Gave Husband Money on Wedding Trip — He Is Held on Mann Act Charge.

Carl Dearing's two wives—the blonde, who says she owes her $12.25, and the brunette who was going to sue him for divorce but didn't—testified against their husband yesterday before United States Commissioner Atkins, where he was charged with having violated the Mann act.

Commissioner Atkins ordered Dearing held for the Federal grand jury, and in default of $1000 bond he was returned to City Jail where he has been confined since his arrest 19 days ago.

The brunette wife, formerly Viola Chambers, 3307 Westminister place, plump, well dressed and 22 years old, testified she married Dearing, who told her his name was Chambers, at Madison, Ill., July 30, 1927. They separated, she said, after a few weeks because Dearing did not support her. She had intended to file a divorce suit, she asserted, but so far has not done so.

Mrs. Blanche Hammond Dearing, the blonde, also well dressed, plump and 22 years old, said she had known Dearing only three weeks when they were married, Sept. 22 last, also at Madison. The marriage lasted only three weeks.

The six-week romance ended, according to the blonde Mrs. Dearing, when her husband departed, taking with him $7.25 of her money.

He had borrowed $5 from her to pay the minister when they were married, she said. She asserted further that her brother and one of his friends drove them to Madison and the friend paid the bridge toll. The wedding party drove back to St. Louis immediately after the wedding, she said, using the Free Bridge on the return trip. Dearing, nattily dressed, with his black hair slicked back, listened to the testimony without comment. At the time of his arrest he told Commissioner Atkins, "I was drunk that time last September. I don't remember anything about it."

Mrs. Dearing No. 2 asked if she had been intoxicated, replied with an emphatic "No." Asked if Dearing had been intoxicated, she replied, "He most certainly was not."

OIL-BURNING LANTERNS FOR CITY'S AIRPORT

Device Is Temporary, Pending Appropriation for Electric Marking System.

Lambert-St. Louis Field, the city's municipal airport, is to be lighted by oil-burning lanterns until a temporary field marking system of electric lights can be installed.

A hundred lanterns, supplied by the city Street Department, will be strung around the field on poles and lighted for the first time tonight. Manufacturing buildings and hangars are already equipped with red hazard lights, and additional red lights are to be placed on two grain elevators at the northwest corner of the field.

The lantern markers were suggested by members of the Technical Committee of the $2,000,000 airport at a meeting at Roosevelt Hotel last Sunday, and will remain in service until a temporary electric marking system can be installed at a cost of about $4000. The committee discarded the $100,000 lighting plan proposed by city engineers. It is expected that portions of the temporary electric system, consisting of white lights mounted on standards encircling the field at 200-foot intervals, can be used in the permanent marking system to be installed later. The temporary system will be installed as soon as an ordinance authorizing the expenditure can be passed.

Maj. Albert Bond Lambert, who resigned as head of the Technical Committee last week, attended the meeting. The other members of the committee adopted a resolution asking Maj. Lambert to return as head of the group. Maj. Lambert, in a letter to Mayor Miller, announced that he would withdraw his resignation if the city employs an expert airport designer to draw a general plan, without which he believes costly mistakes will be made. Mayor Miller announced that the conditions laid down by Maj. Lambert will be referred to a meeting of the Airport Commission at Hotel Statler, Thursday, for a decision.

The Technical Committee also approved a plan to divert Cold Water Creek, which crosses the field, to the eastern boundary at a cost of 75,000. Tentative plans for four runways at the sides of the airport were drawn and will be presented at Thursday's meeting.

HOOVER RECEIVES A FEW VISITORS AND GOES FISHING

With Mark Wood of Nebraska He Sets Out in Small Boat for Edge of the Gulf Stream.

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5.—After receiving a few callers at his headquarters this morning, President-elect Hoover called it a day and went fishing with Mark Wood, a large landholder of Nebraska.

Using a small boat, Hoover and his guest went outside Miami Bay to the edge of the Gulf Stream where salt and other fish have been running heavily for weeks and where other fishermen have made some fine catches.

Those who called on the next President included George Vitis, Republican national committeeman for Wisconsin, and Mrs. Bertha Bauer of Chicago, Republican national committeewoman for Illinois. They said they simply paid their respects.

While the President-elect was fishing, his office staff went ahead with plans for his two trips next week, the first to Fort Myers and the second to the Okeechobee flood district. It may be that Hoover will spend two days at Fort Myers, where he will attend the birthday dinner in honor of Thomas A. Edison at the inventor's winter home.

Gov. Carlton of Florida is to accompany Hoover through the Okeechobee district, and a number of other State and county officials will be along to supply information on damage from hurricanes and floods to other members of the party.

Aside from the conference he will hold from time to time with Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who is a guest, No. 8 Belle Isle, the next President has a rather clear slate for the remainder of this week, and he is expected to put in several afternoons on the fishing grounds off Miami.

Smoot told correspondents of the Hoover party yesterday that he favored the calling of the extra session of the Congress on April 1 so it could put through farm relief and tariff revision legislation and adjourn around July 1. He said the Democrats, undoubtedly would "play politics" with the tariff, but thought his estimate of a three months' session would be about right.

Wells-McIntosh Receivership.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—An equity receivership over established yesterday for the Wells-McIntosh Corporation, which manufactures pianos, player-pianos and organs.

Nathan D. Perlman, counsel for Lyndon Hanford & Kimball, Inc., creditors, asked that equity receivers be appointed, asserting that, although the corporation had assets worth $1,500,000 against liabilities of $517,000, there was a shortage of cash and liquid assets.

Under consideration, according to Shoults. An initial investment of $150,000 to $160,000 is contemplated, he said.

The farm will be stocked with 200 to 400 pairs of foxes.

To Bar Newsboys Less than 14.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—Mrs. Ruby M. McReynolds of Knox County, the only woman member of the House of Representatives, has introduced her first bill, a measure dealing with child labor. The bill would take newsboys less than 14 years of age off the streets after 7 o'clock at night.

Charles A. Brand Tells House Committee Manufacturers Could Not Compete on Production.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The contention that the leasing of the Muscle Shoals properties to the American Cyanamid Co. for fertilizer production would bring into that industry a new competitive element which would wreck manufacturers of the commodity, was made yesterday before the House Military Committee.

Opposing the Madden bill for a 50-year lease of the property, Charles A. Brand, executive officer of the National Fertilizers Association, said the fertilized concerns had lost $225,000,000 in the last eight years and that passage of the legislation would enhance the difficulties already confronting them.

Brand said he considered the proposed lease one step removed from Government operation of the project because, he contended, it would turn over to a private concern a large amount of assets at a low rate.

Brand contended that the fertilizer market already is over-supplied. He added that the annual consumption was 7,000,000 tons with a manufacturing capacity of 10,000,000 tons and sufficient equipment available to throw an additional 2,000,000 tons on the market if it were needed.

Farmer Hangs Self and Baby.
OSBORNE, Kan., Feb. 5.—The bodies of Albert Langley, 39 years old, a farmer, and his 8-month-old child were found suspended from the same rope at a granary at Langley's home near here yesterday. The tragedy was believed to have occurred Sunday afternoon. Domestic and financial worries were believed to have caused the man's act.

SILVER FOX FARM PLANNED NEAR CITY BY SEATTLE FIRM

Three Sites Being Considered in the Foothills of the Ozarks for $150,000 Project.

Plans for a 400-acre silver fox farm in the foothills of the Ozarks within 50 miles of St. Louis were announced yesterday by Dan N. Shoults, representative of Milligan & Morrison of Seattle, operators of 69 breeding farms in Canada and the United States.

Three sites, near Farmington, Barnhart and De Soto, Mo., are

SAYS MUSCLE SHOALS LEASE WOULD RUIN FERTILIZER FIRMS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The contention that the leasing of the Muscle Shoals properties to the American Cyanamid Co. for fertilizer production would bring into that industry a new competitive element which would wreck manufacturers of the commodity, was made yesterday before the House Military Committee.

Opposing the Madden bill for a 50-year lease of the property, Charles A. Brand, executive officer of the National Fertilizers Association, said the fertilized concerns had lost $225,000,000 in the last eight years and that passage of the legislation would enhance the difficulties already confronting them.

Brand said he considered the proposed lease one step removed from Government operation of the project because, he contended, it would turn over to a private concern a large amount of assets at a low rate.

Brand contended that the fertilizer market already is over-supplied. He added that the annual consumption was 7,000,000 tons with a manufacturing capacity of 10,000,000 tons and sufficient equipment available to throw an additional 2,000,000 tons on the market if it were needed.

Farmer Hangs Self and Baby.

child were found suspended from the same rope at a granary at Langley's home near here yesterday. The tragedy was believed to have occurred Sunday afternoon. Domestic and financial worries were believed to have caused the man's act.

Twins' Mother is Proud, Now Don't allow your child to remain weakened or run-down for any length of time. In that condition, children are so easily attacked by the millions of tiny germs that are seething and swarming around us. And it's so easy to get the bilious, headachy constipation, feverish, cross, fretful, puny, underweight ones back into condition, with a hearty appetite, rosy cheeks and abundant energy, by using a purely vegetable product which physicians have endorsed for over 50 years.

FATHER FINDS BOY'S LIMP IS DUE TO RIFLE BULLET

Robert Bruder Walked Around Three Days Before Parent Discovers Injury.

Robert Bruder, 16 years old, 306 Plover avenue, walked around for three days with a rifle bullet in his right leg. It was learned yesterday when his father, William, a contractor, noticed his son limp-ing. Questioned by his father, young Bruder said he was shot in the leg by a strange boy while skating on a pond in Baden last Friday. With the help of his brother, Herbert, 11 years old, he bandaged the wound and sought to keep the injury secret. The youth was taken to Christian Hospital, where an X-ray disclosed the bullet embedded in the bone of the leg. An operation will be performed today to remove the bullet.

MONKEY IS NOT A MAN AT LAW, JUSTICE RULES

Darwinian Theory No Defense Against Showman's Suit to Recover Orang-Utan.

"Napoleon," the man-sized orang-utan, whose custody was at stake in an attachment suit before Justice of the Peace Elmer L. Moore, has the legal status of a monkey and not of a man—in spite of the Darwinian theory and the plea of his owner's attorney, Justice Moore so held in a written opinion handed down today. The gist of the opinion was, to paraphrase Robert Burns' famous line, that "A monkey is a monkey for a' that."

But Justice Moore decided that A. Anderson, St. Louis showman and owner of "Napoleon," who had given a chattel mortgage on the animal when he bought a used truck, had paid for the truck in full. Therefore, the Court dismissed the attachment suit of George T. Bishop, Inc., Shreveport, La., automobile firm, which alleged that Anderson was delinquent in his payments and had "Napoleon" seized by the Constable of the Court last week. Pending determination of the suit, Anderson obtained "Napoleon's" freedom under bond.

"As to the theory advanced by defense counsel that, according to the Darwinian theory, an orang-utan is not available nor subject to treatment as a chattel," the opinion stated, "the Court finds that, Darwinism aside, the laws of the land permit the sale and barter of monkeys and orang-utans and that, therefore, the animal in question would not come under the constitutional ban on slavery."

"Therefore, it is the Justice's opinion that the theory of evolution as advanced by Darwin and the scientists who have followed him and believed with him, does not come under discussion in this case and the Justice rules that the truth or untruth of the scientific point of view has no bearing in this suit."

And now "Napoleon," who tips the scales at 195 pounds and measures 5 feet 3 inches in height, may go his way in peace, performing at bazars and sideshows, wearing his silk hat and frock coat, and eating at a table with knife and fork.

Sears, Roebuck to Open 170 Stores. CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Sears, Roebuck & Co. plans to open 20 large retail department stores and 150 smaller retail stores during 1929, R. E. Wood, president, announced at a meeting of regional executives yesterday.

SWITCHMAN KILLED AT WORK

Whitney Metzger, 35 years old, 1108 Dolman street, a switchman for the Terminal Railroad, was killed at 8:45 o'clock last night when a flat car on which he was riding left the rails at Main and Barton streets, crushing him against a loading platform. Metzger was pronounced dead at City Hospital and his body was taken to the morgue. A verdict of accident was returned at an inquest.

KAFFEE KLATCHES FOR KIEL

Women Voters Are Entertained by Mrs. F. O. Watts. Tea, which shed its mild aroma in St. Louis politics last fall, is now rivaled by coffee, which can be spelled kaffee, if one prefers. Kiel Kaffee Klatches were instituted yesterday by Mrs. William F. Otto, 1525 Cass avenue, who entertained more than 50 women voters and several men, at her home. Pans of doughnuts were provided by Mrs. Otto for her guests.

HERE IS INSTANT RELIEF FOR DEAFNESS

Head Noises, Ear Aches

Roaring and hissing sounds, discharge, pain, sensitive and tender ears, all ear drum trouble. You will be surprised how quickly Aurine will help you. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine Ear Balsam can do for you. Dr. Edward Kolar, M. D., said, "Aurine helped cases I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

Stop paying high prices for earphones, stop buying expensive treatments and enjoy the glorious relief that more than 100,000 others have found in Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says, "Just started using my second bottle and am glad to state that I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time, this summer, I heard the church bell ring. No matter how stubborn or what your trouble is, you must try Aurine. No risk, no chance, no doubt, Aurine must do the work or cost you nothing."

SMART DRESSES

Originally
$25 to $69.50$10Crepe...Satin
...Velvet, Etc.

There are two reasons why these Dresses are offered at $10... they are odd dresses left from the season's selling... and they show some slight traces of having been exposed to St. Louis' "sooty" atmosphere. But they are nevertheless desirable, in fact, more than "desirable," they are real "finds" at $10.

THE SAFETY OF THE NEW FORD

SAFETY, comfort, reliability, economy, speed, acceleration, beauty—these are the features that make the new Ford such a good value. Of all, there is none more important than SAFETY.

The safety of the new Ford comes not only from its efficient brakes, but from many other factors. Among these are ease of steering and control, the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, and the sturdy, balanced construction of the car. This includes the enduring quality of mechanical parts as well as the structural strength of the body.

A particularly interesting feature of the Ford car is the manner in which electric welding has been carried forward to new usefulness through the creation and development of hundreds of special machines.

Electric welding gives simplicity and strength

This very important and increasingly valuable tool of modern manufacturing makes it possible to use one-piece units instead of several parts riveted or bolted together, with resulting gain in strength and simplicity.

Electric welding also permits the use of steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, without increase in weight or greatly increased cost.

Steel forgings are used not only in the front axle, steering gear, transmission, clutch, drive shaft and rear axle housing of the new Ford, but in the shock absorber parts, the emergency brake lever, the torque tube flange and everywhere else where great strength is required. The strength of forgings makes for unusual safety.

Another safety factor worth noting is the manner in which the new Ford holds the road at all speeds. This is due to the low center of gravity, the carefully planned balance or distribution of structural and mechanical weight, and the low ratio of unsprung weight to sprung weight. The co-ordinated action of the transverse springs and Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers controls exaggerated bouncing.

All six brakes are fully enclosed

One of the outstanding features of the new Ford, of course, is its mechanical, internal-expanding six-brake system. This is unusually reliable and effective because the surfaces of all six brakes are fully enclosed. There is no possibility of water, dirt or oil interfering with brake action under any conditions.

The silence of these brakes is another thing you will appreciate. Screeching and groaning have been eliminated by a special self-centering action—an exclusive Ford development which brings the entire surface of the brake shoe in uniform contact with the drum the instant you press your foot on the pedal.

The value of the protection afforded by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield of the new Ford is shown by a recent survey indicating that 65% of injuries in automobile accidents are due to flying glass. The windshield in the new Ford is so made that it will not shatter under the hardest impact. Particularly where there are women and children, it is an important safety factor.

Ease of steering and control are additional factors in the safety of the new Ford. The steering gear is what is known technically as three-quarter irreversible. This means that the bumps and jolts of the road are fully absorbed by the wheels and steering mechanism of the car and are not transmitted to the hands of the driver. A slight touch is sufficient to guide the car. Yet you always have that necessary feel-of-the-road.

The ease of shifting gears, quick acceleration, abundant power and speed for every emergency, and full vision front, side and back, are other points to remember in considering the unusual safety of the new Ford.

5 YEARS FOR CARNES, MISSIONS EMBEZZLER

Former Treasurer of Baptist Board Pleads Guilty at Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 5.—Clinton S. Carnes, former treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, whose disappearance late last summer led to the discovery of an alleged shortage of nearly $1,000,000 in his accounts, and his subsequent arrest in Canada, pleaded guilty in Superior Court here today of embezzlement and was sentenced to from five to seven years' imprisonment.

Carnes' plea was on one indictment charging theft of $80,000. He was sentenced immediately.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin told the Court he had decided to accept the recommendation of the mission board that Carnes be permitted to plead guilty. He agreed, Boykin said, only on the condition that the 19 other indictments against Carnes be attached in the form of memoranda. If Carnes attempts to seek a pardon before the minimum sentence is served, prosecution will be started on the other bills, Boykin explained, but if he does not they will be nolle prossed.

Arthur G. Powell and the Rev. L. R. Christie, representing the mission board, agreed to the plea of guilty. Powell said Carnes had decided everything he had to the board. This deed, he said, would take care of any further shortage that might be discovered by auditors.

In passing sentence, Judge Virlyn B. Moore said that in his opinion Carnes was "getting off light, perhaps lighter than he deserves." Carnes' appearance in court was unheralded. He was ushered in by Deputy Sheriffs, accompanied by his son, Robert, and remained seated throughout the proceedings without a change of expression. He refused to comment.

WHALEN TRAVELS UNDER GUARD

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Because a man insisted that he receive reservations on the same train on which Grover A. Whalen, Police Commissioner, had planned to travel to Miami, Fla., the commissioner took an earlier train last night.

He had intended to leave at 8:35 but left at 7:05 in the private car of Paul Block, the publisher. With him were Mr. and Mrs. Block, Thomas J. Walsh, Commissioner of Standards and Appeals, and his bodyguard, Detective Sam Copland. A man who did not give his name made several inquiries regarding reservations on "Mr. Whalen's train," and when informed there was none, left a telephone number asking the ticket agent to call him if anyone called. Whalen changed his plans.

OLIVE STREET WOMAN ON CRUTCHES BECAUSE OF SEVERE RHEUMATISM

Had Arthritis or Rheumatism of Joints Fifteen Years—Gives Weldon Tablets Full Credit. PAIN GONE—WALKS AS WELL AS EVER

"I am delighted to be able to tell others what Weldon tablets have done for me," said Mrs. Mamie Boyd, who resides at 2015

MRS. MAMIE BOYD.

Olive street. Mrs. Boyd continued: "For fifteen years I suffered with arthritis or chronic rheumatism of the joints. My right hip, back, arms and shoulders were sore, stiff and painful, and for three weeks before I took Weldon tablets I had to go about on crutches. It was impossible for me to get up after sitting down unless I pulled myself up by holding on to a table or had someone to help me. Because of the pain in my back it was impossible for me to bend down to lace my shoes, and I could not stoop to pick up anything from the floor. My shoulders were so stiff and sore that I could not get my hand to my head to comb my hair or put on a coat.

"I read about so many St. Louis people recommending Weldon tablets and how much good they had obtained from them that I decided to try them. I am happy to say that in a few weeks I was able to walk without crutches, the pain disappeared and the stiffness has left my joints. I can now go up and down stairs as well as ever. While I dislike publicity, if my letter is the means of some sufferer taking Weldon tablets and finding relief as I have, I will be amply repaid. Anyone may call or write me for further particulars."

"$1000 reward to anyone proving this testimonial is not genuine. Weldon tablets are always put up in a box—never in a bottle. Ask for Weldon tablets, which are recommended for rheumatism and rheumatic conditions only. Weldon tablets are absolutely harmless and will not upset the stomach, affect the heart or any other organ.

The Weldon representative, who now meets the public every day at Walgreen's Drug Store, 514 Washington Ave., St. Louis, gladly explains more about this remedy and gives out the 24-page book, entitled "Germs of Rheumatism," which are absolutely free of charge to all who call or write for them.

COST OF MAINTAINING 11 CITY INSTITUTIONS

Report Shows Average Spent on Each Boy and Girl in Correction Home About $900.

St. Louisans are paying slightly less than $900 annually for the maintenance of each inmate of the Meramec Hills Correctional School for Girls and the Bellefontaine Farms for Boys, it was disclosed today when Comptroller Nolte's office made public its compilation of costs at the 11 city institutions.

The figure is several times greater than the cost per inmate at the City Sanitarium, the Infirmary, the Training School for Feeble-Minded, the Workhouse and the Jail, and is slightly more than the cost per patient at the City Hospital, City Hospital No. 2, and Koch Hospital. Only the Isolation Hospital has a greater cost per patient.

At the Meramec Hills School, with 21 inmates, the cost of the institution during the fiscal year of 1927-28 was $18,200.17, or $866.67 per inmate. This cost, however, represented a reduction from the 1925-26 figure, which was $1123.92.

At the Bellefontaine Farm for Boys, with 142 inmates, the total cost during 1927-28 was $125,328.03, or $886.11 per inmate. In the fiscal year of 1922-23, with 160 inmates, the cost of the institution was $108,906.17, or $156.62 per patient.

The City Sanitarium by comparison housed and cared for 2033 insane persons during 1927-28, at a total cost of $575,264, or $138.66 per inmate. In 1909-10, with 483 patients, the cost of the institution was $108,906.17, or $156.62 per patient.

The Infirmary, with 744 inmates, had a total cost of $119,427.21 for the last fiscal year, or a cost per inmate of $160.52. In 1909-10 the per-inmate cost was $115.12.

At the Training School, 320 patients cost $130,770.58, or $335.32 apiece, a decrease in the per-patient cost from 1924-25, when the institution was started. That year, 276 patients cost $109,377.05, or $242.29 apiece.

The City Workhouse housed 586 prisoners last year for $168,148.74, or $286.94 apiece. In 1922-23, 222 prisoners cost $521.63 apiece, or a total of $115,802.97.

Prisoners at the City Jail cost $20,982.36, or $329.93 for each of the 265 confined there.

At the City Hospital the average number of patients for the year was 724, and they were cared for at a cost of $863.18 apiece, or a total of $624,486.32. In 1909-10, 728 patients cost $322.98 apiece, or a total of $242,410.18.

City Hospital No. 2, for Negroes, cared for an average of 250 patients, at a cost of $590.69 apiece. One reason for the greater cost at City Hospital No. 1, it was pointed out, was the establishment there of a laundry for both institutions. In 1922-23, the cost for an average of 299 patients at No. 2 was $119.60 apiece.

Koch Hospital, with 402 patients, cared for them at a cost of $339.21 each or a total cost of $136,321.18, an increase from 1922-23 when the per-patient cost was $736.84.

At the Isolation Hospital, the per-patient cost was $1320.95 and the total cost, $89,825. In 1922-23, the total cost was $30,231.67 and the per-patient cost, $531.25.

TERMINAL INCOME TAX SUIT WILL BE MADE A TEST CASE

Involves Actually About $3,000,000 but Will Affect Claims for Hundreds of Millions.

Legal counsel of the principal railroad systems are expected to intervene in the income tax case of the St. Louis Terminal Railroad Association, to be heard in Washington April 4 before John B. Milliken, of the Federal Board of Tax Appeals. It has been decided, Milliken said in a preliminary hearing here yesterday, to make the Terminal case a test for those of the railroads of the country.

In the same manner, the valuation case of the St. Louis & O'Fallon Railroad was made a test case for the valuation of all the railroads of the country, now under advisement in the United States Supreme Court, and estimated to involve a difference of $10,000,000 in the valuations of rate-making purposes, under conflicting valuation methods.

The Terminal's income tax cases, six in all, involve about $2,000,000, according to Thomas M. Pierce, vice president and general counsel of the Terminal. He is unable to estimate how much will be involved in all the similar cases of the large railroad systems, but believes it will run into the hundreds of millions.

The decision to make the Terminal's case the basic one, governing the cases of the great railroads, was a surprise to counsel here. The Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, however, sent one of its counsel here several days ago to co-operate in preparation of the Terminal's case. Milliken's hearing, begun in the St. Louis Court of Appeals courtroom in the Pierce Building, was adjourned to April 4 in Washington.

All the claims relate to the 25 months of Federal control and operation of railroad properties in 1918-20. One of the claims against the Terminal, which was argued last year before Treasury Department officials, is said by the lawyers to be typical.

In 1920, according to the Terminal's counsel, the Terminal reached a settlement with the United States Railroad Administration. It was agreed that all claims of the Government against the Terminal for overmaintenance, and for return of material and supplies of greater value than those received, would be waived, if the Terminal would waive its claims against the Government for undermaintenance and for special construction work, and purchase of material and supplies not adapted to its use.

The method of settlement agreed upon was that the Government should pay the Terminal a check for $208,000, which the Terminal should endorse and return to the Government. This was done.

Last year, according to the Terminal's counsel, the Terminal reached a settlement with the United States Railroad Administration. It was agreed that all claims of the Government against the Terminal for overmaintenance, and for return of material and supplies of greater value than those received, would be waived, if the Terminal would waive its claims against the Government for undermaintenance and for special construction work, and purchase of material and supplies not adapted to its use.

NERVOUS AND BLUE, SOWEAK, RUN-DOWN

Lady Tells About Taking Cardui "With Splendid Results." Says That She Felt and Looked Much Better.

"A while back, I found myself in such a weak, run-down condition that I became uneasy," writes Mrs. Horace Howell, of 63 Clinton street, Asheville, N. C.

"I did not rest well. I felt too worn out to do my work, and, at times, I would get very nervous and blue.

"I didn't enjoy visiting—felt just like I wanted to be left to myself. I was grouchy and cross. My skin was sallow and my appetite was very poor.

"A friend told me that Cardui had helped her, and so I took a bottle, and found that it was helping me. I kept it up until I had taken five bottles, with splendid results.

"I felt like new. My skin cleared up. I looked so much better. I can certainly recommend Cardui.

"I have also used the Cardioseptic tablets, which I have found to be very restful and soothing."

"For over 30 years, women who had suffered, or who had gotten into a weak, run-down condition, have been enthusiastic in their praise of Cardui. Thousands of them began taking Cardui because of the confidence they had in the advice of friends who had told them of their own experiences.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Medical advisers of the Archbishop of Canterbury announced yesterday that his condition necessitated a long absence from public duties especially at this season of the year. He is suffering from a severe attack of pleurisy.

SAYS HE PAID $1500 TO BE U. S. MARSHAL

Mississippi Tells Senate Committee of Remittance to Perry Howard.

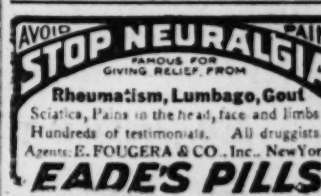

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A. P. Russell, former Postmaster at Magee, Miss., told a Senate Committee investigating patronage today that he had paid $1500 to obtain appointment as United States Marshal in Mississippi.

The money, he said, was given to Perry W. Howard, Republican National Committeeman for Mississippi, who has been acquitted of one charge and faces another accusation growing out of alleged payment for Postmastership appointments.

After serving five months, Russell said, he resigned because he could not "agree" with Howard's lieutenants and could not name his deputies. James G. Buchanan, who succeeded him as Marshal, Russell said, paid $2000 to get the job.

Russell also testified that E. W. Duckworth, Postmaster at Mendonhall, Miss., paid S. D. Redmond, a member of Howard's executive committee $700 for that appointment.

After the Howard trial, Russell said he was removed as a rural mail carrier because he had given testimony against the Committee man.

Sore, Lame MUSCLES Quickly Eased

If you ache all over from muscular or rheumatic pains—just see what wonderful relief Allcock's Plaster will give you. Right away, you'll feel its warming, comforting effect—and you'll be amazed to see how soon the soothing, penetrating medication draws out all the pain.

Allcock's is the original of all porous plasters, used by millions since 1847 for lumbago, rheumatic pains, chest colds, bruises, soreness, sprains and lameness. Odorless—you can put one on and go anywhere. The medication lasts for days—where can you get such sure relief for so long a time for only 25c? Be sure to ask for

Allcock's POROUS PLASTERS

TO THE OWNERS OF AMERICA'S HOMES FROM THE DESIGNERS OF AMERICA'S SKYLINE

The new Federal Reserve Bank Building in St. Louis. This imposing structure, occupying an important corner in the heart of the city, is a recent example of the work of Mauran, Russell & Crowell.

"The use of Copper, Brass and Bronze in buildings creates such a feeling of security and durability that we greatly advocate their selection."

MAURAN, RUSSELL &amp; CROWELL

ASK any architect what he thinks of Copper, Brass and Bronze materials for use in home construction, and you'll hear nothing but praise. Letters from leading architects in every section of the country prove these building authorities overwhelmingly in favor of rust-proof materials. Mauran, Russell & Crowell, for instance, say:

"They are a good investment for the home owner. This opinion has been formed through the experience of years of practice and we do not recall a single instance where failure has occurred."

Their long life and permanent immunity from rust make Copper, Brass and Bronze the logical materials for use even in small homes. Their initial cost is larger. But in the long run their use proves a very worthwhile economy. With them the first cost is the last. Once installed, they serve without repair or replacement for the life of the house.

When you build or buy a home or remodel your present one, protect your investment against loss through rust. Insist on Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts; Brass pipe and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures.

Considering their lifelong service and their absolute protection against rust, Copper, Brass and Bronze are not expensive even in the construction of small homes.

BAR ASSOCIATION
OPPOSES BANKS

Appoints Committee to to End Performing Legal Services by Tr Companies.

ACTS ON REPORT OF INVESTIGATOR

Advertising of These F
tures, E. J. McCull Says, Is Driving Lawy
Out of the Field.

A committee of the St. Louis Association will be named to c for with representatives of t companies as to changes in companies' practices in the d ing of wills and trust instrum and in advertising those feat of their business.

The association voted to v this step after hearing the re of Edward J. McCullen, as a cial investigator into the pra of law by banking corporati
The report was read at last ni meeting at the Coronado Hot McCullen reported, with citat of legal authorities and court decisions, that the drawing of v and trust instruments, and the ing of advice on legal points o nected with them, constitute practice of law; that trust c panies, being corporations, have lawful authority to engage in practice of law, and are forbid by a Missouri statute to prac law; that this prohibition app to lawyers employed by trust c panies; and that trust comp lawyers undertaking to repre and advise a testator are really

How Lawyers Will Proceed
In conformity with his rec mendation, the committee was to be chosen by Jacob Lashly, president of the Bar A dication, will confer with com tees of the State Bar Associa and the Kansas City Association to amending the State statutes give proper protection to the p le in connection with the draw of wills and trust instruments either individuals or corporat who are named as executors trustees in such instruments."

He also recommended, and association voted to undertake dignified campaign of publicit inform the public of the true sions for the bar's opposition to practice of law by corporations other unauthorized persons agencies."

Discusses Struggle for Business
The public, McCullen says, not understand the results may follow from countenan the practice of law by corporati The public, he says, "sees what it considers to be a stru for business between two con ing forces—lawyers and trust c panies—with the lawyers seemi opposing progressive and mod methods, and actuated by what pear selfish reasons." However says that "no fear of misconstr tion or misrepresentation of associates should deter us from ing whatever action may be sary to prevent unauthorized tion of the law. As lawyers, have a special interest in the
ter. It would be foolish for u retard otherwise. But there also a more serious question also welfare involved."

Reviewing the advertising trust companies, McCullen f that in some cases their adver matter suggests that the pe about to make his will or crea trust should consult his own l yer. This advice in some cases not appear, he says, and whe does appear, it is "so modest unassuming that it is scarcely noticeable."

He says that the individual 77c, who is not permitted by ons of legal ethics to adver for or solicit business is being d from the field by the trust co panies, which "have the advan age and soliciting all to themselves."

Cullen tells in his report conference held by him with committee of seven legal repre satives of St. Louis trust co panies. He later sent the trust c panies a list of 23 questions ab their practices. They did answer the questionnaire, but committee of legal representa tives wrote McCullen a letter.

Trust Companies' View.
They said the trust compa were advertising in a dignified manner, and asked that no ception be brought to their attention. The advertising, they were followed up by salaried s sons. "The lawyers connected trust companies," they said, "a

A committee of the St. Louis Bar Association will be named to confer with representatives of trust companies as to changes in the company's practice in the drawing of wills and trust instruments, in advertising those features
of their business.

The association voted to take this step after hearing the report of Edward J. McCullen, as special investigator into the practice of lawyers employed by trust companies, at the last night's meeting at the Coronado Hotel.

McCullen reported, with citation of legal authorities and court decisions, that the drawing of wills and trust instruments, and the giving of advice on legal points connected with them, constitute the practice of law; that trust companies, being corporations, have no lawful authority to engage in the practice of law, and are forbidden by a Missouri statute to practice law; that this prohibition applies to lawyers employed by trust companies; and that trust company lawyers undertaking to represent and advise a testator are really try-

How Lawyers Will Proceed.

In conformity with his recommendations, the association decided to be chosen by Jacob M.
Lashly, president of the Bar Association, will confer with committees of the State Bar Association and the Kansas City Association as to amending the State statutes "to give proper protection to the public in connection with the drawing of wills and trust instruments by either individuals or corporations who are named as executors or trustees in such instruments."

He also recommended, and the association voted to undertake, "a vigorous campaign of publicity, to inform the public of the true reasons for the bar's opposition to the practice of law by corporations or other unauthorized persons or

Declines Struggle for Business.

The public, McCullen says, does not understand the results that may follow from countenancing the practice of law by corporations.
The public, he says, "sees only that it considers to be a struggle between forces—lawyers and trust companies—and the lawyers seem to be progressing and modern methods, and actuated by what appear selfish reasons." However, he says that "no fear of misrepresentation or misrepresentation of our causes should deter us from taking whatever action may be necessary to prevent unauthorized practice of the law. As lawyers, we have a special interest in the matter. It would be foolish for us to retreat otherwise. But there is also a more serious question of public welfare involved."

Before the advertising of trust companies, McCullen finds that in some cases their advertising material suggests that the person about to make his will or create a trust should consult his own lawyer. This advice in some cases does appear, he says, and when it does appear, it is "so modest and unassuming that it is scarcely noticeable."

He says that the individual lawyer, who is not permitted by the business of legal ethics to advertise for solicited business is being driven from the field by the trust company, which "have the advertising and soliciting all to themselves."

Cullen tells in his report of a conference held by him with a committee of seven legal representatives of St. Louis trust companies. He later sent the trust companies a list of 32 questions as to their practices. They did not answer the questionnaire, but the committee of legal representatives wrote McCullen a letter.

Trust Companies' View.

The said trust companies were advertising in a dignified and ethical manner, and asked that any objection be brought to their attention. The advertising, they said, was followed up by salaried solicitors. "The lawyers connected with the companies," they said, "prepare wills and trust agreements where there is a party thereto in the capacity of executor or trustee, in which no charge is made. This work is only incidental to the main service rendered by the companies.
Under no circumstances do they render advice or prepare any documents for other customers of the company or for the public

Texts of Platforms on Which Miller and Kiel Are Running For the Mayoralty Nomination

PLATFORMS of Mayor Miller and former Mayor Kiel, rival candidates in the Republican primary of March 8, are before the voters. The Mayor's platform was announced yesterday, Kiel's two weeks ago.

Both candidates promise economy, speedy completion of bond issue work, park and river front development, activity in behalf of rapid transit, smoke abatement and enlargement of boundaries, support of waterway measures and co-operation with business and civic bodies.

Mayor Miller goes into more detail as to airport development than Kiel, and proposes to "add to the present barge line," a Federal Government enterprise. Kiel promises traffic measures, and specifics opening of Twelfth boulevard, building of Negro hospital and other matters which Miller does not mention, except for his reference to all bond issue projects. Kiel opposes increase in the tax rate; Miller omits reference to it, but says in speeches that the rate cannot be increased without amending the State Constitution.
Miller proposes a new citizens' committee to study city problems, which would appear to point to another bond issue. A plank on law enforcement, in Miller's platform, is reminiscent of the issue on which he made his successful campaign of four years ago.

MILLER'S PLATFORM.

1. See that the city government spends the municipal revenue in an efficient and economic manner.
2. Complete every item voted for in the bond issue as fast as the city ordinance allows the city to proceed.
3. Secure rapid transit for the city as soon as the power to economically accomplish it is granted to the city.
4. Provide the city with outlying parking lots.
5. Start the river front improvement as soon as the authority is given to the city for excess condemnation, which, according to experts, is necessary to carry this into effect.
6. Provide for the addition to the city of such portions of the county as, under the law, are willing to vote to annex themselves to St. Louis.
7. Add to the present barge line, used to haul heavy freight to and from St. Louis.
8. Carry out the plan for the improvement of the Mississippi River, to enable the city to be on a parity with other cities in merchandising our products.
9. Enforce the laws affecting the city.
10. Relentless activity toward smoke abatement.
11. Complete the airport, as soon as possible. Continue the efforts to reclaim 3000 acres of land from the Mississippi River for a water and land airport and park development also necessary for a large city.
12. Co-operate with those civic agencies, composed of both men and women, that are organized to do and foster those things which the municipal government cannot do without their aid.
13. And finally, to do everything possible to educate the citizenship to those things that will build a greater and better city and carry out these things necessary to complete the plans laid out by the General Council of Civic Needs.

Another pledge, which appears in the statement accompanying Miller's platform, is:

"Should I be re-elected, I intend to organize a civic committee of representative citizens to study the present needs of St.
Louis and then, by an educational campaign, to attempt to pro-

KIEL'S PLATFORM.

1. Keep municipal expenditures within the current year's revenue.
2. Oppose any increase in tax rate for municipal purposes.
3. Oppose any expenditures under last bond issue in excess of amounts named for specific purposes.
4. Enlarge boundaries of St.
Louis on a basis not to increase city taxes and without loss of identity by smaller communities.
5. Build the Plaza and Soldier's Memorial NOW.
6. Complete Koch Hospital.
7. Locate and build an adequate hospital for Negroes.
8. Complete the Courthouse.
9. Complete the lighting system.
10. Build Union Station Plaza NOW.
11. Build a convention hall adequate for any size gathering and within the amount of money provided in the bond issue.
12. Complete Free Bridge and put it to work.
13. Develop the parks and playgrounds.
14. Adopt definite city-planning and beautification measures.
15. Support efforts of Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Club in bringing new industries to St. Louis.
16. Expedite vehicular traffic, adopt measures to reduce appalling number of accidents, and to protect pedestrians.
17. Study the situation and adopt progressive measures with regard to subways in St.
Louis.
18. Support measures enabling St. Louis to maintain its dominant position in aviation.
19. Develop the river front.
20. Support measures tending to increase the importance of St. Louis as a deep waterway port.
21. Urge the establishment of consolidated offices in St.
Louis for the direction of the Mississippi Valley flood control program.
22. Open Twelfth street, north and south.
23. Support constructive measures for smoke abatement.

vide the necessary funds to realize whatever is necessary to better St. Louis."

JAPAN AND CHINA SETTLE DISPUTE OVER DISORDERS

Agreement Reached in Peking on Disturbance at Tsinan-fu Last May.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 5.—Representatives of the Chinese Nationalist Government and Japanese agents yesterday reached an agreement in the discussion of the disorders at Tsinan-fu last May, and the results arising from them.

After adjournment of the conference, Dr. C. C. Wang, Foreign Minister of the National Government, left for Nanking to obtain ratification of the agreement by the State Council.

Kenichi Yoshizawa, Japanese Minister to China, one of the con-ferenciers, said the agreement practically concluded negotiations, although it would take a few days to complete the necessary documents and submit them to the two Governments for approval. He said he expected to meet Dr. Wang again when both had obtained authority to sign the agreement.

The terms of the settlement were not given out, but it is said each nation agreed to compensate the other for losses suffered by their Nationals. Apologies were waived by both nations. It is understood there is a likelihood that Japanese troops will be withdrawn from the district in March.

WILKINS REACHES FALKLANDS ON WAY BACK TO NEW YORK

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS, Commander of Antarctic Expedition.

PORT STANLEY, Falkland Island, Feb. 4.—Our party arrived here safely today after an uneventful three-day trip from Deception Island. We are guests of Gov. Arnold Hodson at Government House.

We leave at noon on Feb. 5 aboard the Orinda for New York by way of the Panama Canal.

DEMOCRATS HAVE TWO CANDIDATES BUT NO CAMPAIGN

Neither H. S. Priest Nor Sam Payne Is Making Active Race for Mayoralty Nomination.

SIX OTHERS STILL BEING MENTIONED

Observers Say M. Lashly Is Apparent Favorite—
Behind Ex-U. S. Judge Not United.

With the Republican campaign for the mayoralty nomination well under way, the Democratic party finds itself with two candidates definitely in the race and at least six others considering entry, but with no campaign started. There may be one or two or more of those contemplating the race who will get in it, but some of them doubtless will decide to stay out if the field enlarges.

Time for filing declarations of candidates expires three weeks from today and the primary, on March 8, is less than five weeks off. Former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest, who filed for the nomination yesterday, and Sam Ben Payne, an insurance agent, are the avowed Democratic candidates, but neither has undertaken an active campaign.

Meanwhile, Mayor Miller and former Mayor Kiel, the only Republican contenders, are busy seeking votes and perfecting their ward and precinct organizations. "It does not seem likely that they will have any opposition in the primary," observers definitely considering entry in the contest include Dr.
John H. Simon, the nominee in 1913; Jacob M. Lashly, president of the St. Louis Bar Association; Lawrence McDaniel, former Circuit Attorney; George H. Moore, former Collector of Internal Revenue; and Patrick J. Cavanagh, who was an unsuccessful candidate in the primary four years ago.

Tom K. Smith, an investment banker, also is being mentioned by politicians as a candidate, but says he has had no knowledge of the movement in his behalf.

Past Nominees Won't Run.

Marion C. Early, an attorney, has been mentioned as a possible candidate, but refuses to consider the idea. William I. Igoe, the nominee four years ago, and James W. Byrnes, the nominee eight years ago, have declined to run again.

Supporters of Priest assert that he has a material following in the Democratic City Committee but neutral Democrats say he can claim only a few of the committee members now. One well-informed Democratic leader is authority for the statement that the general trend of the committee is to Lashly, if he will run. Smith has the backing of two strong committees, State Senators Kinney and Brogan, and of one or two others. The extent of party organization backing which Dr. Simon could count is problematical, as he is not regarded as a "regular" in politics. It is almost certain he will run.

It is likely the definite lineup of the 56 committee members among the candidates will not be ascertained until after the time for filing candidates expires. Opponents are inclined to the opinion that the Democratic contest will be a scramble, lacking clear-cut issues, and will be "anybody's race." This is good news for the Republicans, who think the result will be to prevent a tie in the fight after the primary for the Democratic nominee.

Priest Is 76 Years Old.

Priest does not plan a vigorous campaign nor an intensive organization, but make only two or three speeches before the primary, simply leaving it to the people to choose him if they feel he is the right one for the place. He is 76 years old and a lawyer, his practice having been chiefly for corporations and utilities. For a year he has been on the Federal bench. His appointment of President Cleveland
He is a leader of Missouri wets in 1920 he sought the nomination for United States Senator and ran a close second to the winner in St.
Louis. In 1924 he ran for the nomination for Governor and lost the ticket here. He issued the following statement last yesterday:

"I have today announced that I would submit my name to the Democratic primary for the mayoralty nomination and say if nominated, I would not be adversely devoted to the discharge of the duties of that great and important office all the energy and ability I possess.

"The city possesses two attributes: 'One as a governmental agency and the other as a business engine.' One as a governmental agency it is the more momentous and is exactingly of honest impartiality, vigorous economy and profound

WOMAN M.P.'S MAY GO HATELESS BUT THE MEN MUST NOT

Rule Suspended After Experience of Labor Representative in Trying to Speak.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Women members of the House of Commons will be free to disobey the rule requiring all members to wear their hats in the course of certain proceedings. This question came up last week when Miss Susan Lawrence, labor member from East Ham North, found herself handicapped because she had no hat.
The rules require a member must be covered when speaking after a question has been put.

A fellow labor member improv-vised a bonnet from paper. Miss Lawrence donned it, but the chair refused to recognize that she had complied with the rule.

The incident was recalled yesterday with the observation that observance of the rule often forced members into an undignified or even ridiculous position. The Speaker suggested a way out of the difficulty, remarking that inasmuch as the rule requiring members to be covered when speaking about the chamber was not observed by women members, the other rule might also be conveniently disregarded.

HOUSE TO END HEARING ON FLAX TARIFF TODAY

20 Witnesses Called; Wool Rates to Be Taken Up Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Resuming its hearing on flax, hemp and jute tariff rates, the House Ways and Means Committee today called approximately 20 witnesses in an effort to clear the way for consideration tomorrow of wool rates.

George A. Hartman, representing the Juneau Fiber Co. of Juneau, Wis., urged an increase from 1 to 3 cents a pound on hemp tow and from 2 to 5 cents a pound on hemp. Hartman said Western hemp millers could not compete with the imported hemp produced in Europe and China.

Restoration to the free list of certain vegetable and fruit manufactures, and now dutiable at three-quarters of a cent a pound, was advocated by Paul E. Wolf of Philadelphia, representing the National Association of Canned Fruit Manufacturers. An increase on this product of 3 1/2 cents a pound was sought yesterday on the ground that it came in competition with Spanish mus produced in Florida and Louisiana.

Protesting against the proposed increase to 5 1/2 cents a pound in the duty on certain vegetable fiber used in the manufacture of twine and rope, S. Strauss of St.
Louis, representing the Orchard Paper Co., declared exports of the finished products exceeded imports last year, not counting Philippine imports, which were duty free.

Strauss urged a lower duty on hard-fiber twines than that provided for rope and a duty of 1 cent a pound on bags and bagging made of hard fibers.

HOUSE VOTE DEFEATS CHANCE FOR MARYLAND DRY MEASURE

Unfavorable Report on Proposed Enforcement Law Accepted and Further Debate Blocked.

By the Associated Press.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5.— Chances of the present Maryland Legislature passing a State-wide enforcement law were ended today by vote of the House of Delegates killing the prohibition bill favored by the Anti-Saloon League, and then erecting a blockade of parliamentary law to prevent renewal of the prohibition question at this session.

A vote of 45 to 45 accepted an unfavorable report on the bill, presented by the Committee on Prohibition, after friends of the prohibition enforcement measure had failed in efforts to delay action.
In that debate, opponents described the prohibition measure as an "attempt to force down the throats of the people something they did not want."

CONSCRIPTION OF LABOR URGED

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—A sort of civic conscription for industry was demanded by the Nationalist party in the Prussian Diet yesterday. The Prussian Government was urged to ask the Reichstag to prepare immediately a bill by which all males between 15 and 21 years of age, regardless of social position and without exemption, would be drafted to work for a year for the State in appropriate branches of trade and industry.

Bridge Bill Goes to Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A bill to grant a one and three year time extension for commencing and completing a bridge across the Missouri River at Randolph, Mo., authorized to be built by the Kansas City Southern Railway Co., was passed by the House yesterday and sent to the Senate.

BREAKDOWN OF SHIP SAID TO HAVE CAUSED COLLAPSE OF LATEST REVOLT IN SPAIN

As Result of Incident Leader Arrived Two Days After Date Fixed for Uprising, Only One Garrison Carrying Out Plan.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch quoting a special correspondent at Hendaye on the Franco-Spanish frontier, states that rumors were received today that a mutiny had broken out aboard the Spanish cruiser Don Jaime. No details were available.

By ALFRED M. MURRAY.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

(Copyright, 1929, by the Post-Dispatch and New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS, Feb. 5.—An unseaworthy boat was responsible for the failure of plans for the general rebellion in Spain against Premier Primo De Rivera, it has been learned from private messages brought here from that country.
The craft broke down eight hours after it put out from Port Vendres, France, carrying the leader of the revolt, former Premier Jose Sanchez-Guerra, to Valencia, Spain.

Guerra was obliged to put back and charter another ship, and result he landed in Valencia on Jan. 27 instead of Jan. 25, when he was expected. The unexplained delay in his landing demoralized the military and naval leaders waiting to hoist the flag of revolt the moment he stepped on Spanish soil.

Guerra's landing was to have been signaled by relaying from garrison to garrison the password "Josephine." The moment it was received troops in Valencia, Cartagena, Burgos, Meridia, Coruna, Bilbao, Ciudad Real and other garrisons were prepared to march out simultaneously.

General Strikes Called.

General strikes were to have been declared at the same time in each industrial center as Barcelona and Alcoy. Even the Spanish navy, it is understood, was only waiting for the revolutionary movement to get under way on land before joining the uprising.

The garrison at Ciudad Real apparently marched out Jan. 27, the arranged date, without waiting for receipt of the code word.
Neighboring garrisons, however, waited for the signal.

The soldiers at Ciudad, finding themselves without support, gave heed to the printed warnings of punishment dropped upon them by airplanes dispatched by the dictator.

When Guerra finally stepped ashore at Valencia, two days late, he found the colonel of the Fifth regiment of artillery there hesitating to move, without a higher official whose support had been counted on, asked for three hours in which to reflect.

The details of what occurred during those tense three hours reaching here through the iron-clad censorship are meagre. It is known, however, that Sanchez-Guerra, Rivera's most implacable foe, harangued the Fifth regiment in their barracks square, assuring them of the constitutional character of the uprising and declaring he had been chosen to lead it because he was known to the Spanish as a staunch supporter of the monarchist principle and of the reigning dynasty.

Commandant Undecided.

As Guerra spoke the Colonel of the regiment stood by his side, occasionally interrupting with exclamations of tragic indecision:
"Who's in command here?"
An officer of the regiment reported: "An ideal is in command.
Spanish officers wearing the Spanish uniform can only serve an ideal."

In the hours that followed reports came from outlying garrisons on the loyalty to the revolt of a few companies of infantry. But Guerra, realizing that the plans for a concerted uprising had miscarried, refused to countenance an order to march out, declaring:

"We have come to head a movement—not to lead a riot!"
He declined to return to France where he has been a voluntary exile since Primo de Rivera seized the reins of Government. And a few hours later the high official who had asked three hours to meditate on the situation ordered his arrest.

In refusing to hide himself or to take the open road to escape back into France, Guerra declared his honor was at stake, as he was the cause of the ill-fated Ciudad Real effort to overthrow the regime.

Despite Guerra's imprisonment and the collapse of last week's revolt, the dictatorship is doomed, according to observers who have been able to smuggle reports of the situation out of Spain.

Hostility to the dictator is general all over the country, these reports declare. Public opinion is said to have turned against Primo de Rivera. The civil guard itself, considered the bulwark of the existing regime, is contaminated by disaffection. This discontent within the corps has been increased

JOSE SANCHEZ-GUERRA.
FORMER Spanish Premier who has been the leader of recent revolts in Spain. He is under arrest.

by the nomination of Gen. Sanjurjo to command it.

It is learned that the civil guard at Ciudad Real refused to intervene against the rebels. The local commander of the guard was arrested as a consequence.

The Madrid correspondent of the Journal Des Debats asserts the spirit of rebellion pervades all Spain. He insists the directorate is worn out, and that a large portion of its former partisans has deserted it, convinced that its continuance constitutes a danger to Spain.

REICHSTAG COMMITTEE VOTES TO RATIFY KELLOGG TREATY

Adds Resolution Demanding All Signatory Nations Start to Disarm.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—The Foreign Relations Committee of the Reichstag, in passing today a bill for ratification of the Kellogg renunciation of war pact, linked with it the question of disarmament. In submitting their report the committee added the following resolution:
The Reichstag expects the Government to fulfill the obligation of universal disarmament as well as the augmentation of the possibilities for the peaceful settlement of existing and future conflicting interests and manifest injustices."

HINT OF HIGHER TROLLEY FARE IN EARNINGS REPORT

Company Needs More Revenue, Officer Says—Did Not Get 'Fair Rental' in 1928, Statement Avers.

FIRM'S NET INCOME GIVEN AS $495,991

Earnings Amount to $1.44 a Share on Common,
but Will Be Put in Sinking Fund and in Property.

A hint that a higher car fare will be sought by the Public Service Co., operating the street railways in St. Louis, is contained in an advertisement published today by the company giving a condensed statement of its operating revenue and expenses for 1928.

The statement says the company failed by $1,755,554 to receive "the fair rental to which it is entitled" and adds, "We feel, too, that when the complete sincerity and honesty of our purpose to give good service at as low a cost as possible is recognized by the public, that car riders will gladly fulfill their obligation to provide enough money to give good service and provide the owners with a just rental for their property."

Net operating income of the company after payment of operating expenses, taxes, interest on funded debt and preferred stock dividends was $495,991, or $1.44 a share on the 342,620 shares of common stock outstanding. Of this amount, however, $250,000 was set aside for sinking fund to retire bonds, adding to the equity of the common stock, leaving only $245,- 991 available for common stock dividends. This was 71 cents a share, but according to the statement, it will not be paid out in dividends but will be reinvested in improvement of the property.

Says More Revenue Is Needed.

Stanley Clarke, executive vice president of the company, was asked by the Post-Dispatch if, on the basis of the year's experience, the company contemplated asking the Public Service Commission for a higher rate of fare. He said more revenue plainly was needed, but he could not say what action on the fare rate might be taken until the Public Service Commission, acting as a board of arbitration, decides on the wage controversy now pending in which the employees are seeking an increase of about five cents an hour and the company an 8 per cent reduction.

He said that if the wage increase should be granted it would more than wipe out the margin of profit earned last year and probably make

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight, regardless of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The name and address of the author must accompany every contribution, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words will receive preference.

A Warning to Auto Owners.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
UNWARY auto owners—note. You will within the next few weeks go to the City Hall for new license plates. You may find there representatives of auto service companies—hence this warning.

I had an experience with one of these service companies last year. After I had paid $30 cash for my membership I discovered that matters had been grossly misrepresented. I sought a refund of my money on that score and was told to return in a few days as the matter would be thoroughly investigated. I called on several occasions, but my money was never refunded. I did the next best thing—something that I should have done before paying down even one cent deposit. I consulted the Better Business Bureau, now located in the Commercial Building. They have my affidavit on file.

Therefore, before you invest—investigate. Consult the Better Business Bureau for free and practical advice. One final word—the above is written voluntarily and not at the request or suggestion of any man or organization. Its purpose will have been served if it merely causes you to investigate before investing.

"Civic Pride" and the Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
It was indeed deplorable to read in the Post-Dispatch that Mayor Miller gave his authority to disregard the city ordinance which prohibits the use of city lighting standards for advertising purposes.

The police officials were advised by the Mayor that the theater advertising signs are authorized for "civic pride."

When the chief administrative officer of the city disregards the established ordinances or laws, then anarchy and disrespect of laws will develop among the people.

JOHN F. PEARSON.

On Mayor Miller's Record.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I WOULD respectfully remind the people who are endorsing Miller for a second term for Mayor (and they are very few, except politicians whom he has appointed to office) that this is the same Miller who was removed from the Police Board for making a general nuisance of himself. He is the same man who for a little cheap notoriety started the story about vice amongst the high school students, which he was never able to prove, and if he could have, what a howl of getting it, instead of going to the police station to get a law in allowing the Fox Theater to advertise on street lighting signs. When he ran for Mayor the first time his continual ballyhoo was "law enforcement"—yet he does not hesitate to break a law in allowing the Fox Theater to advertise on street lighting signs. I would remind the colored people that he fought against giving them a hospital in the West End until he saw he was going to lose a large number of the colored vote, when he reversed himself. It is well for the people to think these things over before they vote for a man like that.

JOHN BARTSTOW.

Representative Roberts' Position.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
REPRESENTATIVE ROBERTS thinks he can pull the wool over the public's eyes by such a letter as appeared in the Post-Dispatch on Jan. 31. If he is working for the interest of the workingman, why does he not offer a substitute that improves the Compensation Act? Simply repelling it proves conclusively that he is working for the interest of the "ambulance chasers."

DAILY READER.

Misuse of the Flag.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
PERMIT me to present my compliments and tender congratulations to you for that article about the misuse of our national colors by the Fox Theater; also the protest against the use of city-owned lighting equipment by Fox. I have this date forwarded your valued article to the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

I do hope the Post-Dispatch will fight this misuse of our national colors to a finish. The red, white and blue should fly triumphant over the sea of blood contributed by our Navy and Army for our well being.

W. A. STROEDMAN.

Booquet for George W. Strodman.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A GOOD word from every source is all one hears of George W. Strodman. Let me add one more of praise for his humane dealings in the gruesome job his office was called on to handle so early in his term. To have had installed in the jail for those two pitiful unfortunates in his care his own radio set, to have shown such kindness and consideration to the mothers of those men; to have prohibited the morbid curious onlookers from the jail—these are only a few things that show us his exemplary character. St. Louis was not asleep when it put George W. Strodman in office.

BONDS FOR STATE BUILDINGS.

The deficit of the State Treasury, coupled with essential demands on the revenue to maintain the State's business and institutions make it practically imperative that a bond issue be voted for the erection and extension of State buildings.

The buildings for the State institutions are most of them inadequate, unsafe and in a bad state. Many of them are deteriorating to the point that they are a reflection upon the State.

It is impossible to find the money for buildings in the current revenues. If the revenues were large enough to provide funds for building purposes they would be too large for normal conditions. Special taxes for building purposes are impracticable, nor ought the money to be provided in that way. Buildings for educational, eleemosynary and penal purposes are permanent improvements. The cost of them ought not in justice to be laid immediately upon the taxpayers. It should be spread over a term of years, through bonds. That is the practical and economical way of supplying the money for the necessary buildings. If building is dependent on current revenue the construction necessarily extends over many years; there are long delays and some are never properly completed, as the experience of many states has demonstrated. It is a very costly method.

It is foolish to consider supplying the immediate pressing needs of the State institutions for new or extended buildings out of the current revenue. The revenue is not sufficient to supply the ordinary needs of the State. It is not large enough to supply the funds required for additional educational facilities. To put the educational system of the State on a sound basis. More revenue is needed for ordinary purposes. Gov. Caulfield realizes that a bond issue is necessary to meet building need. In his inaugural address he recommended the creation of a commission to survey the charitable institutions for the purpose of determining what the building needs actually are. If after the report of the commission the Legislature did not have time to act, he suggested an extra session for the purpose. The survey should include not merely the charitable institutions, but all the institutions, including the educational institutions. The survey should be complete and the building plans sufficient to meet the needs of the State for years to come.

The people of the State have cheerfully provided the money for an adequate system of good roads. The next imperative step is to provide the money for adequate buildings to house the wards of the State in comfort and safety and to enable the educational institutions to carry on the work for which they were created.

AN EARLY SEISMOGRAPH.

The first seismograph was invented by the Chinese Choko in 136 A. D. The device is described by the Rev. James B. Macelwane, S. J., of St. Louis University as follows:

"It consisted of an inverted brazen bell eight feet in diameter, with a vertical tube extension. Inside of this a column was suspended as a pendulum. In the walls of the bell were eight tubes ending in dragons' heads, in each of which a ball was poised. As long as the pendulum remained still the balls were undisturbed. But if the pendulum swung ever so little in any direction that ball was pushed out of the corresponding dragon's mouth and dropped into the mouth of a frog waiting below, which then bobbed up and down very vigorously. Inside the bell was a device for recording the motion of the pendulum." We never heard of it before, but we imagine that Rube Goldberg did.

AMERICA FOR THE AMERICANS.

If one may judge by what is going on now before the Ways and Means Committee at Washington, the time cannot be far distant when some of the Latin-American countries will want the United States to annex them as a way out of our rising tariffs. Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines all enjoy free trade with us. It is an immense advantage now, and as our tariffs increase their favored positions will become even more alluring. Not so the sovereign republic of Costa Rica. Its principal export to the United States is bananas, but the apple growers of this country do not want bananas admitted free any more. They propose a tariff against them so the people of the United States will eat fewer bananas and more apples, and a tariff there will be. We will eat that apple a day whether we want it or not. So says the militant and outpated confederation of apple growers, and behind it loom the serious ranks of the prune growers and other staple producers equally determined to have their way down our throats.

This is going even farther than we go in the matter of foreign fruits duplicating our own, a field in which Mexico, which would like to export to us limes, lemons, grapefruit, etc., is particularly aggrieved. Where it will stop there is no telling. Presumably, we shall know in time what native fruit suffers when we eat the coconuts of the tropics, what we might be more patriotically drinking than the coffee of Brazil, and what home product languishes when we chew Yucatan's chicla.

Wherefore, let it be known that we, too, have raised the lusty shout of nationalism. It is America for the Americans!

THE NI-SUN CASE.

The Public Service Commission has appealed a ruling by Circuit Judge Westhues of Cole County which knocks out the monopolistic feature of the motorbus regulatory law. The commission had denied the application of the Detroit-Chicago Motor Bus Co. (Ni-Sun Lines) for permission to operate intrastate busses between St. Louis and Kansas City on Highway No. 40. That action was taken on the ground that two bus lines are already holding permits on that route and are rendering adequate service. The company went to the courts, charging the commission has no power thus to restrict bus operation.

Judge Westhues feels that competition should be permitted among the bus lines and that the public should have the benefit of this competition. By an order of the commission the bus fare from St. Louis to Kansas City is $7 and bus lines are compelled to refrain from competitive rate cutting. Interstate passengers, however, are carried by the Ni-Sun Lines between those points for $4.50. Permission to carry interstate passengers was granted by the commission while the Ni-Sun's intrastate application was pending in court.

If the Ni-Sun case does not act as a thorough test of the constitutionality of the motor bus law and of the commission's powers under it, we trust another will be instituted. Certainly some of the commission's decisions have been questionable from the standpoint of public policy. We refer particularly to its refusal to permit the Egyptian Transportation Co. to operate a bus line from St. Louis to Webster Groves and Kirkwood. In that case, it also found that adequate service was being supplied by the railroads and street car company. There is considerable difference of opinion on that point, but the commission was deaf to protests of commuters and to a showing that the bus service had certain definite superiorities to existing means of transportation.

THE MOTORING WORLD.

The automobile show opened in St. Louis Monday morning to the accompaniment of a mild snowstorm. Mild as it was it made the streets slippery enough to compel careful driving. In the circumstances attention may be directed to the one hazard which automotive engineering genius has yet to vanquish—the liability of skidding.

Progress has been made to that end. Four-wheel brakes, improved tires, chains, the superior functioning of the modern mechanism—all help the driver to maintain control of his car under most difficult conditions. Nevertheless, the specter of skidding still haunts the motorist and induces him when the roads are covered with ice or snow to return to the street car, leaving his car in the garage.

So, the subjugation of the skid is, for the Alexanders of motordom, one more world to conquer.

The most striking advance in motordom now is esthetic. Genuine beauty has been attained. Designers obviously have been sitting at the feet of the old Greek masters. Simplicity of line is the dominant note. And motor advertising is now stressing the variety and harmony of colors available to purchasers. Mechanical advances are yearly recorded, but the successful car must, and does, combine beauty and utility.

It has been observed, of course, that the heads of the industry are confidently looking forward to bigger demand, bigger production. The "saturation point" has been blotted out of their philosophy, certainly expunged from their practice. The foreign field is being cultivated. In that direction, says the president of General Motors, lies the possibility of rapid expansion. An experience of the Hoover party in the recent Latin-American tour is in point. From the Peruvian port, Callao, to the capital and largest city, Lima, writes a correspondent in the Review of Reviews, is a seven-mile "stretch of concrete highway as modern, as well built, as well cared for and as competently policed as the highway uniting, let us say, Baltimore with Washington." Surely there is prophecy in that fact of a motored South America. And now for the show.

TAXES IN ST. LOUIS.

As we knew he would, Mayor Miller has followed ex-Mayor Kiel in making it quite plain that he does not advocate an increase in the local tax rate. Both know quite well that an increase is inevitable, but they put their own political fortunes first and the welfare of the city second.

Meanwhile, a new Tax Committee has just been appointed by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce. Headed by John F. Green, it is composed of as representative and authoritative a group of business men as could very well be mustered. Primarily created for the purpose of looking after tax proposals in the Legislature, it is an admirable body to survey the municipal revenues of St. Louis. The city faces a million-dollar deficit at the end of the fiscal year in April. It has no more mill tax settlements or bank tax judgments in sight.

The Post-Dispatch urges the Chamber of Commerce committee to make an exhaustive survey of municipal revenue and submit to the community its recommendations in the matter. Unless it does so, this important subject will continue to suffer from neglect, politicians will go on with the farce of trying to run a modern metropolis without the money necessary to maintain it in its rightful place, and the Board of Aldermen will resort to even more fantastic tax make-shifts than we have now.

THE CRUSADERS MARCH AGAIN.

Those were dull stories the old textbooks told of the crusades. The spirit of adventure was blighted by stolid verbiage, splashed now and then with meretricious glitter. The summons of Urban was chronicled, of course, but the bugled blast of that greatest of the papal showmen was never heard in the drowsy schoolrooms of long ago. The mass and motion were there, but the processional splendor of the historic drama was missing. Today the very soul of the crusades is poured into all the homes of the land by the stirring eloquence of great music. What an audience of youth and age must have been thrilled Sunday night by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra's narrative of the crusades! Here were spears stabbing the blue of day, shields shining in the sunlight, a warrior pausing to clasp farewell to his Lady Fair beaming from a balcony; the drone of the magnificent blessing the endless march. Education in the authentic pattern of art is the priceless privilege of the adolescent world of today. "It is Richard, it is Raymond, it is Godfrey at the gate"—brought thither by the radio.

WHEN DIETING IS FUTILE.

The medical profession is beginning to take cognizance of a fact which has become a sort of standing joke among laymen, namely, that a person of excess weight may exercise faithfully and diet conscientiously for a long period, only to discover that he has lost no weight or has even gained a few pounds.

More arrangement of a standardized diet whereby the body gets fewer calories than its normal need does not always cure the abnormal condition. Some specialists now are viewing many cases of obesity as a disease, and not the result of wrong habits in eating or exercising. Treating such patient with a standardized mathematical prescription of carbohydrates and fats has been found to bring such varying results that it is now playing a secondary role.

The new method of treatment is through correcting the malfunctioning of the endocrine or ductless glands of the body, particularly the pituitary and thyroid. Cases of obesity in children are found nearly always to be due to glandular malactivities. The fat boy in Dickens' "Pickwick" is the classical example of such pituitary disorder. The amount of food consumed is not the primary or sole cause of added weight when the glandular secretions are abnormal; hence dieting and exercise are unavailing in such instances.

As scientific treatment becomes more general, rigorous dieting, which may become harmful, and freak antifat remedies are nearing their end.

No. 13 has no terrors for Mayor Miller.

THE STRANGER.

Carl Schurz: 1829-1929

March 2 is the 100th anniversary of Carl Schurz' birth; the great German-American who came to the United States after the revolution of 1848 and made himself a powerful force in American life, will be remembered with celebrations on both sides of the Atlantic; Missouri will honor its famous Senator.

From the Survey Graphic.

ON the second of March falls the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Carl Schurz, foremost among those German liberals who came to this country after the abortive revolution in 1848, and have contributed mightily to the greatness of America. Plans are under way suitably to celebrate not only his remarkable place in the history of both countries, but his contribution to the development of the whole liberal movement of the world. Especially in these days of the restoration of good understanding between this country and Germany, and broader exchange of their modern, cultural advantages, no note could be struck more helpful than that vibrating in his great career.

In both countries the centenary will be observed. The exact form which the celebration will take in the United States cannot be stated at this moment. A representative committee is being organized in New York, in whose name a celebratory meeting or banquet will be given; there will be also a demonstration of the German-American societies. There will be effort to raise a very considerable sum for the endowment of an institution for the permanent promotion of the inter-related cultural, intellectual and humanitarian interests of the two peoples.

Celebrations will be held also in Missouri, which State Schurz served as United States Senator; in Illinois and in Wisconsin. The latter State is publishing a biographical volume, Schurz in Wisconsin, covering the period of his residence there and his political activities immediately prior to the Civil War. The Illinois German-American societies are devoting their Year Book exclusively to Schurz.

In Germany there will be celebrations in Berlin and Hamburg. In the city of Bonn, where Schurz spent his university days, and at his birthplace, the Rhens village of Lillhar, the promotion of the German plans will fall generally upon the Vereinigung Karl Schurz, the society devoted to encouraging German-American relations and especially to welcoming Americans to Germany. Under the efficient secretaryship of Dr. Gertrud Ferber, the society has made extraordinary progress in quickening interest throughout all Germany in the centennial and in its significance. The society is issuing a memorial volume, of contributed articles about Schurz's career, expected to include prefatory chapters by President Hindenburg and President Coeldige.

It is expected that there will be appropriate exercises both in the German Reichstag and in the United States Senate of which Schurz was a member. At the time of the death of Schurz in May, 1906, a national committee, under the chairmanship of the late Joseph H. Choate, raised a memorial fund approximating $200,000. From this, endowments of $20,000 each were given to the Civil Service Reform League, the presidency of which Mr. Schurz held for many years; to Hampton Institute, to which were sent the first Indians chosen by Schurz for Government education, and to the Society for Germanistic Culture. Also there were published and widely circulated the six volumes of Letters and Addresses of Schurz. The main accomplishment, however, was to erect in New York City, in bronze and stone, the imposing Schurz monument, work of the late Carl Bitter. It was unveiled in May, 1913, in the presence of the German Ambassador, the Mayor of New York, and one of the most imposing civil and military gatherings in the city's history. A notable address was delivered by George McAnany, then president of the Board of Aldermen, who long had been associated with Schurz as secretary of the Civil Service Reform League.

Six months after Schurz's death, on Nov. 21, 1906, an immense memorial meeting in Carnegie Hall was presided over by Mr. Choate, and addresses were delivered by ex-President Cleveland, President Eliot of Harvard University, Prof. Eugene Kuhneman, president of the University of Breslau, Charles J. Bonaparte, Secretary of the Navy, Richard Watson Gilder, Prof. Schumacher of the University of Bonn and Booker T. Washington. Those who were at that meeting will remember its extraordinary character, the surging about the hall of many thousands unable to gain admittance, and the demonstration of reverent and affectionate feeling within the hall, almost unprecedented in the history of New York City.

The subcommittee in charge of the preliminaries of the projected New York celebration consists of George McAnany, chairman; Franz Boas, Charles C. Burlingham, Frank Damrosch, Victor D. Ridder, William J. Schieffelin, James Speyer and Oswald Garrison Villard.

TIRED OF THEIR JOBS.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.
THE present British House of Commons has such a topheavy Conservative majority that an overthrow of the dominant party at this year's general elections would seem to be highly unlikely. With 418 Conservatives as against 39 Liberals and 153 Laborites one would say that the party in power is in no danger of becoming a minority as a result of the voting next May. As a matter of fact, there is a real danger, though not as yet an actual probability, that the Government of the British realm may pass from the control of the Tories.

The present Conservative majority is abnormal, due to popular reaction against Liberal bungling and the unworkableness of the MacDonald coalition Government. Conservatives were elected by many constituencies normally strongly anti-Conservative, and now a considerable group of these members positively decline to stand for reelection. Campaign expenses range from $2500 to $5000, which is a high price to pay for the privilege of being defeated. In more than 100 constituencies now represented by Conservatives the party leaders find it practically impossible to draft a candidate. Incidentally, the salary of a member of the House of Commons is only $2400 a year, and any British Parliament may not endure even for one year, so that even a successful candidate may find himself heavily out of pocket.

The present indications are that the next Parliament will contain no unwieldy Conservative majority, and there is a distinct possibility that the Liberals and Laborites may return a coalition majority. The cam-study of material conditions, to insure real and abiding prosperity." Kiel says Negroes are not getting proper attention.

Former Mayor Kiel addressed about 50 members of the Colored Women's Republican Club last night at the home of Mrs. L. H. Bradbury, 4614A Cook avenue, and declared that St. Louis Negroes were not getting the proper attention from the Miller administration.

He centered his attack on the delay in erection of the Negro City Hospital, funds for which were provided by the 1923 bond issue. As is known, Miller and his advisers wanted to construct the institution as an annex of the white hospital, but the Board of Aldermen held up

SECOND AND WORSE FLU WAVE FEARED

Colds Attacking Weakened System Pave Way for New and More Severe Diseases

Health authorities fear that the present decline in the number of new flu cases may be only a prelude to a second and worse wave.

They point out the importance of keeping free from colds, especially if the system has already been weakened by the flu, as colds at this time are so apt to bring on bronchitis, or even pneumonia.

Every cold must be checked immediately. And yet too much "dosing" may upset the digestion which is already disturbed by the toxins of influenza.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable here. As it is applied externally, it can be used freely at the first sign of a cold without upsetting the most delicate digestion. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

a bill for that purpose because of the demand from Negroes for a separate establishment in their own residence section. Recently the administration agreed to the change in site. Discussing the subject, Kiel said:

"There has been nothing but showing responsibility from one shoulder to another. There is no reason why such a situation should exist. All they had to do was spend the money but all they have done is talk. The present colored hospital is a disgrace to the city. God help us if we ever have a fire there. I am making no rash promises as to what I will do for the Negroes, but I do insist they are entitled to a fair chance to prove what they can do and it is no more than right that they should have their own hospital."

Kiel declared that Negro physicians should be provided at Koch Hospital to care for tubercular Negroes, and to prove that Negroes "have not been treated fairly in the matter of health protection" he said the tuberculosis death rate here among whites last year was 65.4 per 100,000 while among Negroes it was 233.

At the Town Club last Friday night, Mayor Miller said accomplishments of his administration had not been done through back-slapping and handshaking. Kiel last night said: "I'd rather be a handshaker with a good word for all I meet than the fellow who looks like he drinks a glass of vinegar every morning before breakfast."

Fifty out of 64 Negro ministers, meeting at Union Memorial Church, 2890 Pine boulevard, voted an endorsement of Kiel's candidacy. A. D. Tibbals was elected president of the Sixteenth Ward Kiel-for-Mayor Club at a meeting at 2630 Blaine avenue, and the Rev. E. D. Hurd was chosen president of the Negro Kiel-for-Mayor Club of the same ward, at 5100 Clark avenue.

Seventy per cent of the employees at City Hall are supporting Kiel rather than Miller. It was asserted by Thomas Driscoll, president of the Twenty-second Ward Republican Club and of the Geraldine Palm Improvement Association.

impossible continued payment of preferred stock dividends.

The wage case was submitted to the Public Service Commission by agreement between the employees and the company last summer, and hearings were held in October. At these hearings the company introduced testimony to the effect that granting of the increase would make necessary a 10-cent fare.

Larger Operating Revenue.

The company's total operating revenue was $19,620,424, as compared with $19,107,998 in 1927, an increase of $512,426. This increase was attributable to the straight 8-cent fare which was effective for the last six months of 1928, in comparison with the 7 1/2-cent fare prevailing before.

The number of revenue passengers carried in 1928 was 264,053,497, a decrease of 3.51 per cent as compared with 1927.

Total expenses were $16,758,299, leaving a balance of $2,862,125 available as rental for the property. Out of this there was paid for bond interest $1,872,265, and preferred stock dividends of $482,989 and $250,000 was set aside for sinking fund to retire bonds.

The amount the company claims it is entitled to earn as rental for the property is $4,617,379, which is 7.14 on the rate-making valuation of $65,000,000 fixed by the Public Service Commission as of Jan. 1, 1927, plus betterments and additions since that time total $1,156,482.

In the order granting the 8-cent fare the Public Service Commission estimated that rate of fare would give the company a return of 7.14 per cent on its valuation, which was said to be a fair rate, but it did not definitely say the company should earn that rate.

The earnings for 1928 were 4.12 per cent on the basis of valuation allowed by the Commission and 4.73 per cent on the basis of original cost of the property as found by the commission in its report.

Earnings 4.42 Per Cent. In 1928. The earnings available for the common stock are equivalent to 6.5 per cent on the present market price of the stock which is $22 a share, or 11.5 per cent on the 1927 share, or 11.5 per cent on the price of $19.50 a share at which the stock was sold to original subscribers.

The real progress of the company is shown by its consolidated income account, which shows total income for 1928 of $1,865,616.72, before payment of preferred stock dividends, as compared with $38,215.78 in 1927. This figure for 1928 included non-operating income of $77,656.43.

Correct Posture Chairs

For the Executive

For the Stenographer

For the Clerk

Scientific tests and practical business experience both prove that comfortable seating has a direct bearing on office efficiency.

Where office workers must spend hours constantly at their desks it is hard-headed economy to furnish them with comfortable chairs.

Correct posture seating fundamentally means fitting the chair to the body so that the worker sits naturally. The back is scientifically shaped to fit the natural curve of the spine and supports it at all times so that it carries the weight of the torso easily and naturally and compels the worker to sit in the proper erect position while is most restful and comfortable.

The seat is modeled to the natural shape of the thigh, relieving the seat bones by distributing the weight naturally over a larger surface. The seat is deeply scooped out to rest the pelvis at its natural angle, preventing slipping forward and cramping.

The result is less fatigue, increased energy and more capacity for work.

DODGE BROTHERS SIX

Inspired by Walter P. Chrysler

NO CAR has ever represented the artistic genius of Walter P. Chrysler more notably than his latest achievement—the new Dodge Brothers Six. In charming lines, in luxurious appointments, and in superlative ability, this car is precisely what you might expect from this master of design utilizing to fullest measure the manufacturing skill of Dodge Brothers.

The style, the completeness, and the many remarkable provisions for utmost motoring ease and security, are all of a character never before attained in a car within hundreds of dollars of its moderate price. For example, the

Mono-piece Body, built inflexibly onto the chassis and made without a joint or a seam to loosen or squeak, is a feature entirely exclusive with the new Dodge Brothers Six.

The greatest value in Dodge Brothers history, the new Dodge Brothers Six is certain to increase the renown of its famous sponsor and to add fresh laurels to Dodge Brothers traditional dependability.

OPTIMISTIC NOTE AT CONVENTION OF RETAIL MEN

Undertone of Uneasiness, However — 500 Merchants Have Registered, 500 More Expected.

INFLUENZA SLOWS BUSINESS SOMEWHAT

Chain Store Problem Discussed — "Too Many Manufacturers," Head of Shoe Firm Declares.

Optimism for the business outlook prevails as retailers from 14 States gather at Hotel Statler for their semiannual convention, but an undertone of uneasiness may be heard in the hopeful chorus. The convention opened last night.

"Last year was only a fair year," A. A. Kuhne of Troy, Mo., president of the American Retailers' Association, said in his opening address. "There is much unrest among manufacturers, wholesalers, mail order houses, chain stores and independent retailers."

More than 100 out-of-town retailers are expected to attend the convention, which comes at the peak of the spring buying season. About 500 had registered this morning. The program of convention features will end Thursday with a banquet, but many buyers are expected to remain throughout the week.

The most pointed expression on business conditions as the convention opened was obtained from an executive of a Washington avenue shoe manufacturing concern. "Any one who tells you business is rushing, is dealing out a lot of bunk," he said. "Business isn't bad, but it could be a whole lot better."

"Too Many Manufacturers." "To begin with, there are too many manufacturers, a lot of them hanging on by the skin of their teeth. And there are chain stores. When a chain store buyer comes to town, he shops around among a half dozen manufacturers. Perhaps he finds one who will sell at a loss just to keep his plant running. That's what hurts."

Homor D. Edlins, assistant sales manager of the Ely-Walker Dry Goods Co., finds business indications better than he had expected. "Merchants were reported buying from hand to mouth and salesmen did not expect they would feel business justified them in going to the market," he said. "There were more buyers here today than we had been led to expect."

Aaron S. Rauh, vice president of Rice-Six Co., has no complaint. "We expect the spring business to be very good," he said. "There are a large number of buyers in town and retailers' stocks are low."

Hite Bowman, sales manager for the Carleton Dry Goods Co., is also optimistic. "I see no reason why we shouldn't look forward to a good season," he said. "The health of the country has been the chief retarding influence. There are the chain stores, of course, but there's a place for them. Business has always been a matter of the survival of the fittest."

"The influenza epidemic made things dull, but sales should pick up now. Sales forces were impaired by illness, schools and theaters were closed. In some sections of Oklahoma an epidemic of spinal meningitis resulted even in the closing of stores."

Chain stores continue to be the most vital problem of retailers, it appears from the talks scheduled for the convention. "Chain stores are the topic of the day," President Kuhne said in his opening address. "If they have the best methods of distribution, and are more economical than independent retailers, we should adopt their methods."

"They sell for cash, they keep their stores well lighted and clean, they pay cash and make all discounts, they make no deliveries, they have a budget system for buying, they do not overstock, they get a big turnover, their stores have good fronts, their merchandise is well displayed."

"They are not doing anything that we retailers cannot do, but we can do a number of things they cannot do: the most important of which is the injection of personality into our business."

Against Foreign Owners.

"I do not think any business man, or laboring man, or farmer should trade with a foreign owned chain store. What profit they make is taken out of their cities and sent to headquarters, later being distributed as dividends to the owners who usually live in the larger cities. They spend this profit with their own doctors, lawyers, insurance men, druggists, merchants, and picture shows."

Economy is not a factor in the success of chain stores, J. J. Maloney of Decatur, Ill., told the retailers last night. "Ninety-eight per cent of all goods sold in these stores can be duplicated in any department store in America at the same price or less. The success of the 5 and 10 cent stores is purely psychological. In Chicago, one of those stores placed beside many other similar articles regular $1 alarm clocks and 50-cent to $1 salad bowls for 10 cents each. To merchants their prices were evident—to create an odious comparison between their values and similar values in independent stores."

MUDD'S $100,000 GIFT COMPLETES CHAPEL

Donations by Late Chain Store Officer and Family Announced at Dinner.

The late Dayton H. Mudd and his family has donated $100,000 to build and furnish the memorial chapel at the Catholic House of Retreats conducted by the Laymen's Retreat League below Jefferson Barracks. It was announced last night at a dinner meeting of league members at Hotel Jefferson.

Mr. Mudd, a vice president of the J. C. Penney Co., died March 5, leaving a $6,000,000 estate. His contribution toward the chapel has heretofore been placed at $50,000.

The Rev. James P. Monaghan, S. J., director of the league, reported $28,000 in gifts pledged by members and friends during 1928, and an additional $48,500 last month. Plans have been drawn for a $60,000 addition to the dormitory at the House of Retreats.

Richard Crane of Cincinnati, Commander of the Knights of the Order of St. Gregory the Great, was the principal speaker at the dinner. Others who spoke were Archbishop Glennon, Rev. Francis J. O'Hern, S. J., president of St. Mary's College, Kansas, and Rev. C. A. Shyne, S. J., of Kansas City, national director of St. Mary's College Alumni Association. Eugene Mudd was toastmaster.

The following directors were elected: Otto Spaeth, Oscar Lamy, Joseph Darst, J. F. Schaffly, Firmin Fuss Sr. and James A. Smith.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Skin

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty skin regardless of their age or the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint over the entire face and neck preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should never neglect her skin and complexion. Many women have made themselves look years younger by these simple Ice-Mint treatments and it is predicted that wrinkles will soon be a thing of the past to the woman who will give reasonable care to her daily toilet. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her skin and complexion. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

Pierce-Arrow seizes "the psychological moment"

With a new fine car—a straight eight—that has size without bulk, and beauty rather than tonnage!

ANOTHER page in fine car history is turned with the arrival of the new Pierce-Arrow Straight Eight. It meets a need long recognized among important makes of motor cars.

Generous size and capacity there must be in the finer cars. But no longer at the sacrifice of symmetry of line, and spirit of performance.

Pierce-Arrow has solved the problem in the finest tradition. Incidentally, it has brought forth an automobile which spells the end of "the dowager" type among fine cars.

There was never a car more satisfying to the eye, or one more easily handled, than this newly arrived patrician among automobiles. It is the high note of the show.

A STRAIGHT EIGHT

125 Horsepower Engine • 85 Miles per Hour • 133-inch and 143-inch Wheel-bases • 59½-inch Rear Tread • 72-inch Over-all Height • Ample Headroom • Wide Doors • Pierce-Arrow Coachwork • Non-shatterable Glass • Fender or Bracket Headlamps optional without extra charge.

Pierce-Arrow mechanical detail embraces every device of proved character known to the engineering of fine motor cars

From $2775 to $8200 at Buffalo. The purchase of a car from income has been made an altogether attractive procedure by the Pierce-Arrow Finance Corporation. The average allowance on a good used car usually more than covers the initial Pierce-Arrow payment.

ABDUCTED AND ROBBED, GIRL INFORMS POLICE

Miss Clara Werz Tells of Trip to County—Two Other Women Held Up.

Miss Clara Werz, 19 years old, 1532 Buck street, reported that she was abducted near her home last night by two men who took her in an automobile to a point on the Lemay Ferry road where they robbed her of her purse and $3.50 after which they drove back into the city and put her out at Grand boulevard and Meramec street.

Miss May Belle Naylor, 6426 Nashville avenue, walking near Tamm and Clayton avenues, was held up by a man and robbed of $25.

Miss Dorothy Suer, 21, 3431A Pestalozzi street, walking on Castlemann avenue near Grand boue-vard, was strongarmed by a man and robbed of her purse and $3.
Warren Yarbrough, 4214 Maryland avenue, a bakery truck driver, was slugged when he resisted highwaymen at 1229 Walton avenue. He was robbed of $27.

Other holdups reported: Confectionery of Mrs. Sarah Wolff, 1106 Bayard avenue, $25 stolen; confectionery of Frederick Klein, 4069 Lafayette avenue, $44; grocery of Lewis Moresou, 2742 Eld-dard street, 150; Kroger store at 4564 Gravois avenue, $110; Kroger store at California avenue and Meramec street, $93; Louis Rotermund, 4010 Pennsylvania avenue, $45 and watch; Charles Weissen-born, 2422 Vista avenue, $75; George Frost, 4503 Gibson avenue, $35.

Mrs. Leo C. Miller, 1619 South
Grand boulevard, reported a $250 diamond barpin has disappeared from a dresser drawer since Jan.
28 when she began showing her house to prospective purchasers.

Victims of recent holdups will be asked to view three Negroes arrested for investigation last night.
Two were taken in custody at Bell and Theresa avenues and admitted planning to hold up a store a block away. They had pistols. They named a third Negro, who was arrested in his room. He also had a pistol.

ARCHDUKE FRIEDRICH WINS
By the Associated Press.
PRAGUE, Feb. 5.—Advices received today from The Hague state that the Hungarian-Czecho-Slovak mixed arbitral tribunal has decided that Czecho-Slovakia must compensate Archduke Friedrich of Hungary, former Field Marshal in the Austro-Hungarian army, as well as hundreds of other Hungarians whose property was confiscated by Czecho-Slovakia after the peace treaties.

Friedrich, who is a cousin of the late Emperor Francis Joseph, and the wealthiest man in Hungary, began suit several months ago against Italy, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Poland for recovery of cas-ties, estates, paintings and other valuable property, estimated to be worth millions of dollars, which has been sequestered by the succession of states. Today's decision represents the first victory in these suits, but it is certain that not only Czecho-Slovakia, but all the other succession states will contest the Hungarians' right of compensation.

New Lower Prices—with Quality Unchanged—are focusing public attention on Plymouth and winning even more enthusiastic recognition of its outstanding dollar-value.

Comparing the Plymouth with other cars at its price, people are convincing themselves it offers greater intrinsic value and lasting economy.

Economy with Full-Size: Buyers are turning to this car in ever-increasing numbers because in point of size and seating space, it overshadows every other offering at its price—is the outstanding full-size car in the lowest-priced field.

Economy of Operation and Upkeep: It is obvious that Plymouth has all the economy advantages of a simple, sturdy four-cylinder engine, resulting in substantial savings in gas, oil, tires and freedom from upkeep expense.

Economy with Modern Engineering: Designed by Chrysler it embodies all the recognized advantages of modern engineering including such important developments as rubber engine mountings, aluminum alloy pistons, large main bearings, torque reaction neutralizer and positive pressure-feed lubrication.

Economy with Power and Safety: It is a joy to drive the Plymouth—to note its typical Chrysler alertness, responsiveness and smoothness of performance—to feel the positive safety of its hydraulic four-wheel brakes (internal-expanding, front and rear) which are found on no other car near the Plymouth price.

See the Plymouth! Drive it. You are bound to recognize the wisdom of popular judgment in rating it the biggest value and the soundest economy among cars selling under $850.

WOULD HOLD FLOWER SHOW IN NEW AUDITORIUM IN 1931

Retail Florists Discuss Using Building for National Exhibition if Completed in Time.

The possibility that the first large national convention to be held in the new Municipal Auditorium when it is completed will be the 1931 national flower show was discussed at the annual meeting of the St. Louis Retail Florists' Association at the Elks Club last night.

A resolution was adopted urging city officials to hasten the acquisition of a site for the auditorium.

More than 450 persons attended the meeting, at which officers for the new year were installed. Speakers included George Asmus, Chicago, chairman of the National Flower Show Association; Leonard H. Vaughan, Chicago, president of the Society of American Florists; and L. A. Hoerr, president of the Allied Florists' Association of St. Louis.

Geraniums Fatal to Beetles.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—If Japanese beetles start hanging around the home garden, some attractive beds of geraniums probably will reduce their numbers. Charles H. Ballou of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology, Washington, finds that these beetles feed on cultivated geraniums and that the diet paralyzes them, causing about 55 per cent of the geranium banqueters to die.

SAYS ROAD BOARD WILL CARRY OUT CAMPAIGN PLEDGE

Chief Engineer States Members Have Assured Him They Will Adopt Resolution at Next Meeting.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—Chief Engineer Cutler today issued a statement on behalf of the State Highway Commission, which is intended to clarify the road fight in the House and Senate. He pledged the commission to adopt a resolution at its next meeting to carry out the campaign promise of the method of expenditure of the State road funds.

Simultaneously Senator Cave of Callaway County, majority floor leader of the Senate, threw his support to the Wammack amendment, which proposes to write into the law the promises made during the campaign.

The Highway Department remains opposed to changing the proposed enabling acts in any particular, but it has not seriously opposed the amendment advocated by Senator Wammack. It considers it the least objectionable of the many that have been proposed.

Whether Cutler's statement will abate to any extent the efforts of the obstructionists in the House to muddle the enabling act by attempted adoption of the substitute brought forth by the Bales-Whitaker-Elmer group cannot be told until the substitute comes up for adoption in the House tomorrow.

Butler's statement follows: "Chief Engineer Cutler stated this morning that he had direct communication with all of the members of the State Highway Commission yesterday and that they all assured him they would pass a resolution at the next meeting of the commission which will be held on Feb. 12, endorsing and pledging themselves to carry out the estimated program of expenditure outlined on page 51 of its sixth biennial report, which was used during the campaign for Proposition No. 3 before the last general election.

"The commission further stated that it considered the statement on page 51 of its sixth biennial report a solemn obligation, which would be carried out as outlined, provided, of course, funds became available as estimated. This program provides for the completion of the State system in 1933, the completion of refunds by 1934, and an expenditure of $40,000,000 for the construction of supplementary highways, which will be started in 1930 at the latest, and in 1932, if the enabling act is passed in sufficient time thereafter.

"This program on supplementary highways contemplates the expending of $2,000,000 a year for each of the first three years, $4,000,000 the fourth year, $12,000,000 the fifth year, and the remainder of the $40,000,000 in the other three years.

"Cave Changes Mind.

"This program also provides for 300 miles of additional roads to the State system connecting with State parks and for the relief of traffic congestion around St. Louis and Kansas City."

Senator Cave voted against the Wammack amendment in the Senate.

THIS MODERN METHOD OF COLD TREATMENT IS PLEASANT AND SURE

No longer is it a nuisance to treat or to stop a cold. Old-fashioned dosings, often ineffectual and even dangerous, have been done away with. The Vapex way is simple and pleasant and will stop a cold at the start.

Get a bottle of Vapex from your druggist. Put a drop on your handkerchief and breathe your cold away. That is all there is to it. The claims made for Vapex have been substantiated by years of testing since its discovery in England during the war. Analyses made under the supervision of physicians and government officials proved that the Vapex vapor kills the germs of common colds.

The strength of one application of Vapex lasts for an entire day or night, even increases in strength for several hours. Many have found it beneficial to place a drop on both ends of the pillow at night. It works while you sleep. Insist on the genuine Vapex in the little square bottle and the package with the green triangle—50 treatments in every dollar bottle. Vapex is distributed by E. Fougera & Co., Inc., New York City.

Chief officer Harry Manning says: "Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet."

"WHEN I climbed aboard the 'America' after those cold, strenuous hours getting the men off the freighter 'Florida,' there was nothing I wanted so much as a Lucky—'By George,' it tasted wonderful! A Lucky is always refreshing. My tense nerves relaxed, my aching throat was soothed and the whole thrilling adventure just seemed a part of the day's work. As time goes by, and as I look back to that memorable night, I'll always remember the wonderful taste of that welcome Lucky. As I went around to visit the men we'd rescued, I found many of them enjoying Luckies, too. We really couldn't wait to get back to our ship and 'Luckies.' As an actual fact in returning to the 'America' I noticed one of our men* rowing with one hand and lighting a 'Lucky' with the other. There's no flavor to equal toasted tobaccos, and I always prefer Lucky Strikes. There's wisdom in the saying: 'Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.' It helps a man to keep physically fit and we who follow the sea must always be prepared for any emergency."

*The man mentioned by Chief Officer Manning was Boatswain's Mate Aloys A. Wilson.

CONVICTED TREASURER OF OHIO RESIGNS

Governor Says Impeachment Proceedings He Started Will Be Pressed.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5.—The resignation of State Treasurer Bert Buckley was handed to Gov. Cooper late this afternoon. Half an hour earlier the Governor had told the treasurer's attorneys that impeachment proceedings would go ahead despite an offer of Buckley's resignation to become effective Feb. 15. Buckley was convicted in the Federal Court Saturday of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws.

Gov. Cooper initiated the legislative action last night after Buckley had refused to accept the Governor's demand that he resign. Gov. Cooper prepared a message which was read at the opening of last night's session of the House of Representatives, demanding that charges be preferred.

The House unanimously adopted a resolution calling for committee investigation of Buckley's conviction and Speaker Gray announced appointment of the committee. If charges are voted in the House a trial will be conducted with the State Senate sitting as a court of impeachment.

Buckley, who is the first State official to face impeachment in Ohio, is free on $10,000 bond pending argument Monday on his appeal from the Federal Court conviction. The maximum sentence which may be imposed is 28 years and a fine of $27,000.

Testimony at the trial was that Buckley had offered $300 monthly to John F. Eckhart, acting assistant prohibition administrator, for information of Federal activity against Cincinnati breweries, and that he had relayed supposed tips to operators of the Jackson Brewing Co. of Cincinnati.

Gov. Cooper's name was mentioned at one time in Eckhart's testimony as one of the "higher-ups" Buckley said had come to him protesting against raids in Cincinnati breweries. Eckhart later amended this testimony, eliminating the name of Gov. Cooper and that of United States Senator Simon D. Pess, who likewise had been mentioned in the original testimony.

YORK, England, Feb. 5.—James Melrose is dead at the age of 100. He often said he was refused a policy by an insurance company as a "bad risk" early in life. For the last 60 years he had been chairman of the York Race Committee and in this capacity attended every "gimcrack" dinner since 1875, this being a notable function in honor of a famous racehorse of years ago. He was Lord Mayor of York in 1866 and 1877.

Drink Hot Tea for Bad Cold!

Don't let a cold develop into flu! At the first chill or feverish feeling, go right to your druggist and get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea. Put a tablespoonful of this Hamburg tea into a strainer, pour a cup of boiling water over it, and drink it at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and relieve grippe, as it heats the body and opens the bowels. This breaks up congestion and frees the body of poisons. Hamburg Breast Tea is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Eats Spinach, Stomach Trouble Gone

"I especially like spinach, but I eat anything since taking Adlerika. It has given me complete relief from stomach trouble."—E. Fallon. The simple mixture of glycerin, buckthorn bark, etc. (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. It acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that poisons the system for months. It clears GAS and sourness from the stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis and rheumatism.

Dr. H. J. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria." Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika." J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 30 years. Awful impurities were eliminated. It will surprise you the great amount of poisons Adlerika brings out—you would never believe they were in your system. In chronic constipation, GAS, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists. Sold in St. Louis by Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores. The most popular electric refrigerator now offers these greater values

More people use Frigidaire than all other electric refrigerators combined

If you've felt you "couldn't afford" a Frigidaire; if you've been waiting for lower Frigidaire prices, see what Frigidaire offers you today.

More than 750,000 Frigidaires are now in use... more than all other electric refrigerators combined. And the demand has grown so tremendously in the past six months that Frigidaire prices have now been lowered. The savings on some models are as much as $90... new low prices made possible only by Frigidaire's enormous volume.

Every family needs... and can have Frigidaire

And today, not only are Frigidaire prices lower, but Frigidaire has many improvements. It has an extra-powerful compressor, an incredibly quiet compressor. It has patented self-sealing ice-trays. It has removable, waist-high shelves. It has a surpassingly beautiful, porcelain-lined cabinet. It has features found in no other electric refrigerator.

More than that, Frigidaire is economical. It more than pays for itself with the money it saves on ice bills and in stopping food spoilage. And its constant, dependable, correct refrigeration temperature is a priceless protection to health.

Come in and see the New Frigidaire. Get its new low prices and facts on the liberal General Motors deferred payment plan. Come in today.

Consider these New Frigidaire features

- 1 So incredibly quiet you don't hear it start, stop or run.
- 2 Complete simplicity... plug it into a single electric outlet and forget it.
- 3 Easily portable... can be moved anywhere.
- 4 Mechanism completely concealed... out of sight... out of mind.
- 5 New low prices and easy terms.

Mayor, His Brother, Police Chief and Water Superintendent Charged With Dry Plot.

With former State's Attorney Arlie O. Boswell and former Coroner George W. Bell of Williamson County in Leavenworth penitentiary serving terms for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, the trial of four Herrin (Ill.) officials under a similar indictment will begin tomorrow in Federal Court at East St. Louis where Boswell, Bell and three other defendants were convicted.

Defendants tomorrow will be Mayor Marshall McCormack, Chief of Police John Stamm, Water Superintendent Alvin Misker and Elmer McCormack, a policeman and brother of the mayor.

The indictment charges that during 1926 and 1927, Ed Rocass, Ben Mezo, Frank Purcell and Peter Oldini, defendants in the conspiracy, received "protection" money, and supplied "materials" to further the conspiracy.

The Government, represented by United States Attorney Harold Baker and his assistant, Ralph Lesemann, who prosecuted the previous conspiracy trial, will present about 20 witnesses, including five convicts. The maximum penalty on conspiracy is two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Sets Style

This lovely New York girl, now appearing in George White's famous "Scandals," has plenty of personality. Not only has she won Broadway's admiration by the cleverness of her acting and dancing, but she has literally "set the style" for Fifth Avenue by the way she dresses her hair.

"Girls in my position must do everything to keep their appearance pleasing," says Miss Manners. "But I lead such a busy life that I can only use the simplest methods. I know I have discovered the easiest way of doing my hair. It's so popular now here in New York. It keeps my hair so easily manageable that I can dress it any way I want and it stays in place wonderfully. All I do is put a little Danderine on my brush every time I use it. My hair was dull and wiry before I started using Danderine. Now it's so bright and sparkling and so soft and fluffy that every one compliments me. Danderine soothes my scalp and keeps away all traces of dandruff. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean, I don't need to shampoo half as often as I used to."

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from the hair; brings out its natural color; makes it fairly sparkle. It keeps your hair soft and easily manageable while you're letting it grow to the new length. It helps stop dandruff. It is delightfully fragrant; isn't oily; doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles. Over five million used a year.

The Story of Your 1928 Car Fares

Company failed by $1,755,854 to Receive Fair Rental to which it is Entitled.

CONTINUING our policy of fully and accurately informing the public of all phases of street car transportation in St. Louis, we present now the operating financial statement for the year 1928. The calendar year corresponds very closely to the first year during which the St. Louis Public Service Company has been your agency of transportation. We feel that street car service has been improved and we know that we will strive earnestly to further improve it. We feel, too, that when the complete sincerity and honesty of our purpose to give good service at as low a cost as possible is recognized by the public that car riders will gladly fulfill their obligation to provide enough money to give good service and provide the owners with a just rental for their property.

The owners did not get that just return in 1928. The operating financial statement shows that after all expenses had been paid there remained $2,862,125 as rental for the owners. That was $1,755,854 short of the sum to which owners were entitled. The $2,862,125 rental was used to pay bond interest amounting to $1,873,165; preferred stock dividends of $492,969; a required sinking fund of $250,000; leaving only $245,991 available for common stock dividends. That was equivalent to 71c a share. However, no common stock dividends have been declared and the money available for common stock dividends has been reinvested in property to be used in service of the public. We suggest a careful reading of the following statement because it shows fully how the money that car riders paid in 1928 was spent.

RECEIPTS

Fares Collected . . . . . $19,620,424

Revenue Passengers Carried ~ 264,038,497

Increased use of private automobiles has decreased street car riding, thereby raising the cost per passenger of maintaining street car service. Street cars, however, carried 80% of all the people who rode and continue to be the chief vehicle of mass transportation in St. Louis. For the first six months of 1928 the fare was 7½¢; for the last six months 8¢. The average street car fare in the United States, for the year was 8½¢. The usual cash fare for a single ride throughout the country now is 10¢—248 cities having of necessity been advanced to that basis.

Miscellaneous receipts of $299,420 brought the company's total revenue for 1928 to $19,620,424.

EXPENSES

Wages . . . . . $9,274,525

Nearly half of the company's receipts for the year was spent for wages to 5584 employees. The average maximum wage in the United States for wages of platform men on street cars last year was $7.14¢. The average maximum wage paid to St. Louis car men was 67¢. In addition to the sum shown, $480,104 was paid to men engaged in construction work, making our total payroll $9,763,629, spent in St. Louis. In number of employees and total payroll your street car company is the largest industry in the city.

Other Operating Expenses . . . . . $4,356,333

This includes material and supplies purchased from 500 business concerns in St. Louis, together with a reserve of $1,200,000 to keep track and cars in first class operating condition. In no other city is street car equipment in better condition today than in St. Louis.

Taxes . . . . . $1,860,463

The company is required to collect this sum annually as a part of the fare charged, to be turned over to the state and municipal governments as a tax upon the car rider.

Personal Injuries and Property Damage . . $1,266,978

Modern traffic conditions produce accidents. The company has adopted a policy of paying all just accident claims in an equitable amount and promptly. However it is subjected to excessive and often unjust judgments in Court. These judgments are paid out of car fare, and car riders can help reduce the burden upon themselves by giving the company accurate accounts of any accidents they may observe.

Total Expenses for 1928 . . . . . $16,758,299

Balance Available as Rental of Property . $2,862,125

Fair Rental to Which the Company is Entitled . . . $4,617,979

This is equivalent to 7.14% on $63,500,000 found by the Missouri Public Service Commission to have been a fair return and a fair valuation of the company's property as of January 1, 1927, plus $1,156,483.00 of money actually invested since that date.

Actual Rental Received . . . $2,862,125

This is 4.42% rental for the property on the basis of its valuation by the Missouri Public Service Commission and this is 4.73% rental on the basis of the Commission's original cost finding.

Amount by which company failed to receive the fair rental to which it is reasonably entitled . . . . . $1,755,854

MATSUYAMA BEATS CHAMPION HOREMANS IN CUE TITLE MATCH

JAP PLAYER UPSETS JOPE BY BEATING TITLEHOLDER

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The world's 18.2 balking billiard crown rested a trifle insecurely on Edouard Horemans' curly-thatched head today.

The slim Belgian made an inauspicious start in defense of the game's most coveted title last night when he bowed to Kinyre Matsuyama, the pint-sized Japanese, 4-0 to 2-2, in 16 innings. It was the first match in the championship round-robin tournament in which Horemans stakes his crown against the assaults not only of Matsuyama, but also of Walker Cochran and Young Jake Schaefer of the United States, Eric Hagelacher of Germany and Felix Granger of France.

Somewhere between his hotel quarters and the Level Club, scene of the tournament, Horemans lost his control and there lies the whole story of his defeat by Little Matsuyama.

Not once during the dull and lengthy match did the champion exhibit the unerring control of the balls that won him the title in a challenge test against Cochran last March. Horemans spent most of the evening trying to make points with the balls at either end, or side, of the table. Only twice did he compile runs of better than 50. Trailing by 224 to 112 at the end of the eleventh inning, the champion temporarily forgot his nervousness and collected a string of 59. He followed this streak with a collection of 18 in the fifteenth inning and added 44 on his next and last attempt. These three runs, his best of the evening, could not save him from overwhelming defeat, but they did contrive to make the score a bit more respectable.

Winner Averages 25.

While Horemans was following the balls all over the table and giving vent to his disgust by some extremely expressive grunts and shrugs of his shoulders, Matsuyama, the five-foot, boy-faced stolid Japanese, was running up points with a display of steady, if not particularly brilliant, billiards. At times he took many chances, but as a general rule he was content to play a safe and conservative game and let Horemans beat himself. The Japanese had three runs of better than 50, running 74 in his second inning, 67 in his eighth and 59 in his tenth. After that his total mounted slowly except for the fourteenth inning when he collected 40 and in the sixteenth when he closed out the match with an unfinished run of 20.

Matsuyama's match average of 25 was hardly impressive, but it was more than enough to give the Japanese the victory. Incidentally, it was his first triumph in the last two 18.2 balking tournaments. He failed to win a game in the last one at Washington in 1927. Horemans' average was 18.4-16.

Last night's summary:

Matsuyama: 7, 74, 3, 28, 15, 38, 0, 67, 2, 89, 1, 3, 12, 40, 20—400. High runs: 59, 74, 67. Average: 25.

Horemans: 29, 24, 0, 10, 1, 8, 3, 1, 6, 20, 59, 4, 15, 55, 44—292. High runs: 59, 58, 29. Average: 18.2-16.

Officials of Browns See No Worry in Contract Situation

By James M. Gould.

"Business better than usual" seems to be the general idea of the Browns' executives in the matter of 1929 contracts—signed and unsigned. According to Business Manager Bill Friel, the local American Leaguers are farther advanced along these lines than for many past seasons. No claim is made that all of the earnest athletes have affixed their signatures to the documents sent them, but a healthy number have come through and little or no trouble is expected from those who have overlooked the chance to return the registered-letter receipts.

The name of Alvin Crowder, last year the pitching sensation of the American League, has crept into the public prints, the inference being that the "General" who won 21 and lost 5 games for an .808 percentage last year is not entirely satisfied with the general contour of the figures in the contract sent him. It is known that the document carried with it a substantial increase, but when the time comes for a club and a player to agree on the exact meaning of the word "substantial," then, indeed, will be the baseball millennium. However, club officials feel that it will not be hard to get together with Crowder. As to the other players, Friel states nothing to worry about his ardent and that by the time training starts all will be in line. Contract Talk Not "Good Form."

As for the Cardinals, one guess as to the number of signed contracts in the club safe is as good as another. At this time of the year, discussing the status of players by the club simply isn't being done. One thing the Cardinals have planned is to give a raft of young batters plenty of schooling in the early springtime. Reporting with the first squad will be Pitcher Elliott, skinner, Fred Brown, Martin, Wright, Heise, Ryba, Cochran and Delaney, with Catchers Taylor and Carlson.

These youngsters will have the benefit of the advice of the first-string pitchers and undoubtedly will benefit by the instruction of such pitching masters as Alexander, Haines and Sherdel. Jimmy Wilson, Earl Smith and "Blubber" Jonnard should have a sufficient number of helpful catching hints for the school. Then, there is Coach "Gaby" Street as general director of receiving.

Mike Delaney, one of the young pitchers, was a member of the basketball team of St. Viator's University, which, recently, defeated the strong St. Louis University five. There will be considerable marking time between now and Feb. 24 and 25 when the Browns and Cardinals respectively, depart for Florida.

Hold-outs of early winter, as a rule, bloom readily into signers of contracts when time for entraining comes round.

"Silver Threads," etc. Clarence F. Lloyd, secretary of the Cardinals, is receiving congratulations on another birthday. Just which birthday this is for the baseball official, is shrouded in mystery. Estimates of his "friends" range all the way from 35 to 40 going and coming. Lloyd himself, however, is content with "nothing for publication" attitude so that nothing is known except that yesterday was his birthday.

PARIS, Feb. 5.—The date set for the completion of the second round stands as the only serious threat to the United States in its path to the interzone final of the 1929 Davis Cup competition. It was decided yesterday when the draw was made that the round must be concluded before May 8, when the tennis season has barely opened in Canada, the first opponent of the United States.

the authorities to arrange a schedule for a match between the United States and the Dominion and one between the winner and Japan as soon as possible. The other second round tie presents few difficulties as Cuba and Mexico are the contestants.

Three favorites drew byes in the first round but their second round encounters provide plenty of difficulty. Germany and Spain, both listed as possible winners in the European section, will meet their opening match. The victor comes up against Italy, last year's European zone winner, in the third round. The Italians are not expected to have much trouble disposing of Ireland. Czechoslovakia, another favorite, meets Austria in a first-round encounter. The Czechs head the lower half of the draw and are expected to reach the zone final.

Women and men whose teeth have a yellowish tinge—read this! "I was discouraged," says Mrs. E. Andrews of Seattle, "because my denturist would remove that 'yellow look' from my teeth. The last time I visited my dentist he told me about a new preparation especially created to banish "Yellow Man" as he called it. It is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. I sent 4,000 miles for a tube. After one week I was perfectly amazed at the whiteness of my teeth. Even my friends remarked about it."

ORPHOS will give you this lustrous whiteness without slightest harm to the enamel. A new formula made from "Tri-Calcium Phosphate," the very substance dentists use in cleaning teeth. It is daily giving glorious teeth whiteness to millions. And gum health with every brushing. Get a tube. Today—from your nearest drug or department store.

CONVICT, SLAYER OF BILL BRENNAN, PUGILIST, CAUGHT

Joseph Piolo, Who Escaped From Sing Sing Prison, Using a Mattress, Arrested in New Jersey.

By the Associated Press.
ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 5.—
The murderer of Bill Brennan, heavyweight pugilist, was in jail today after being a fugitive from Sing Sing prison for two years.
Joseph Piolo, who disappeared from prison on the night of March 7, 1927, was arrested here last night as a suspicious character.
Detectives arrested him after watching his movements for more than a week. Their suspicions had been aroused by his apparent prosperity with no visible means of support.

When approached in a cafe he said he was James Lavelle of Newark. Detectives said they found a pistol in his pocket. An automobile he had been driving was registered in Union County under a fictitious name. Police said his identity as the escaped convict was established through police records.

Details Escape From Sing Sing.
The prisoner gave a detailed account of the manner in which he escaped from Sing Sing.

He said that under cover of a heavy fog he slipped out of his cell, carrying his mattress with him. Making his way to the top of the wall with the mattress, he said he held it before him and leaped into the Hudson River.

Swimming a distance of about three city blocks, he said, he climbed ashore and was away before the siren on the prison sounded warning that a prisoner had escaped.

Piolo and four others were indicted for shooting Brennan in his New York cabaret in July, 1924.
Piolo pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree in October of the same year and was sentenced to Sing Sing for 20 years.

In April, 1927, a man surrendered to police of San Diego, Cal., saying he was Piolo and asking to be locked up because he feared he would commit another crime. He was unable, however, to convince Sing Sing authorities he was the escaped convict and later changed his story, claiming to be Joseph Ferri. He was released.

Brennan Killed in Cabaret.

Brennan, a Chicago pugilist, who was at one time a contender for the heavyweight championship, retired from the ring in 1923 after being knocked out by Luis Firpo.
Jack Dempsey knocked him out twice. Once in six rounds in 1913 and in 12 rounds in 1920.

After quitting the fight game Brennan became proprietor of a cabaret known as Tia Juana. On the night of July 15, 1924, Brennan was in his establishment when five men entered and opened fire on him.

As Brennan fell, James Cullen, a State trooper, went to his assistance and was shot, dying later from the wound.

The killing of Brennan was thought to be the outcome of a quarrel with Piolo, who had been ejected from the cafe for using abusive language to a woman.

Piolo was under indictment for the murder of his brother Santos when arrested for the Brennan killing.

Drugs Excite The Kidneys, Drink Water

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the elimina-tive tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lungs of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

The Woman and "The Game"

By Elsie McCormick.

VERY other day or two somebody writes in to inquire how I became a newspaper woman. At first I thought that the question was always prompted by a desire to break into what journalism students call the game. I have been to suspect that it sometimes arises from a great wonder as to why I am not working in a cannery.

How anybody becomes a newspaper woman is a long and involved tale. Generally, I believe, it goes back to a nurse with dyspepsia who dropped the person on her head in childhood. Anyway, this makes it a little easier to account for the eagerness of girls to wait all day for a prima donna or to run through the Bronx for hours in the rain when they might be spending the time behind a warm and pleasant frying pan.

It is said by many modern doctors that printers' ink can cause hives and hay fever. Probably it also has some hitherto undiscovered effect on the minds of susceptible infants, casting a drug-like glamour over their little intelligences and causing them to lose all interest in a future contaminated by common sense. If your small daughter is one of those to whom newspapers merely give the hives, you should be happy in the thought that she is getting a good break.

My own affliction started so early in life that at the age of 11 I was running around from one public school to another gathering material for a weekly column entitled "News of the Schools." Regularly, in the presence of my wide-eyed and envious classmates, I used to measure the column and send in a bill for 15 cents an inch. However, this employment was not without its value in later life. So many principals were moved to give the precocious little nuisance the air that I had much preparation for my future reportorial career.

At the time my desire to be a newspaper woman was vastly increased by a serial film entitled "The Perils of Our Girl Reporters." I was charmed by the way the city editor and the rest of the staff rode to their feet and extinguished their cigarettes when the girl reporter entered the local room. I was positively infatuated by her many assignments to take rides with handsome aviators and to interview European Princes dressed in velvet court costumes.

"This," I said to myself, "is the life. If anybody—teacher, parent or editor—thinks I can be kept out of it, he or she will have to bring the machine guns."

When I finally did get a position in a local room I suffered several twinges of disappointment. In the first place, the city editor did not at all resemble the young man with lacquered hair who presided over the desk in the film. Indeed, as he was nearly always hidden behind seven veils of floating smoke, it was difficult to know what he did look like.

When, a few years later, I saw from shipboard that great Central American volcano known as "The Lighthouse of the Pacific," I was smitten by a strange sense of both familiarity and perturbation. Suddenly I realized the reason for it. The volcano bore a striking resemblance to my first city editor, and I later learned from various natives that it was very like him in disposition.

Of course, there were, no doubt, moments when I would hardly have fitted into a text-book on journalism. One morning, for instance, I arrived at the office three-quarters of an hour late. After I had finished rewriting some $5 holdups from the morning papers, the city editor summoned me in order to make some comments on my tardiness.

I explained that I had been late because the congestion produced by the strike had held up the street car. "What strike?" gasped my perturbed chief. "Why," I explained blandly, "the big strike that started this morning at the Bethlehem Iron Works."

The city editor said nothing at all, one heard not a sound except the noise of his glasses falling off and hitting the edge of a paste pot. The sight of an editor's glasses coming off by themselves, and that of such a dignitary, being beyond words combined to form very impressive spectacle. I don't believe that I'll ever quite forget it.

One of the disappointments of my early newspaper career was the absence of Princes and aviators from my assignments. It is strange how, in this world, we so often get what we want and then find that the desire is satisfied with saddest. Since seeing "The Perils of Our Girl Reporters" I have interviewed Princes and flown with handsome aviators. The Princes, however, all turned out to be frail and shabby representatives of a dying social order. The aviators, while handsome, stuck closely to their gadgets and did not allow the machine to fly by itself, as they did when the girl reporter was a passenger. Regrettably I am coming to the conclusion that am probably had something which I lack. Maybe it was her white spats.

After several years of asking questions, I am being cast at last in the role of interviewee. A number of journalism students have been around of late to use me as practice material, and it is amazing how much a little interview can do to inflate the ego.

If I could only have felt flattered in silence, however, all might

THE COMMON DISEASES.

SINCE some exception is usually taken to the statement I made yesterday that the private physician, not the clinic or hospital or institution or endowment, would continue to take care of most of the sick people in the world it may be well to glance at the actual frequency of disease conditions. The following graphic chart is modeled on several surveys, notably that of Sydenstricker (U. S. Public Health Report, 1926) at Hagerstown, Maryland.

Please note that over 90 per cent of actual cases are those which ordinarily come only within the range of the general practitioner's care. Did anyone ever hear of a clinic which treated measles or typhoid fever? Or minor surgery—sewing up cuts or lancing boils? Only 70 per thousand were chronic diseases—where most of the diagnostic puzzles are. And of these 70 half at least are better off in the hands of the general practitioner.

We hear a great deal about medical science being so complex that one man no longer is capable of covering the whole field. But this chart shows that most of the common illnesses are not complex at all. Even the complex ones are far better off at first in the hands of a private physician who can always arrange to refer the patient to a consultant if necessary.

Like Freshly Baked. The stale rolls will be like freshly baked ones if put in a paper bag, the bag dampened with warm water, tied tightly shut and placed in a hot oven. By the time the bag is dry the rolls will be freshened and hot.

Longer Life to Brushes. After using the scrubbing brush, rinse it in cold water and then turn bristles downward. The water will run out and the brush will dry quickly. If allowed to dry on its back the water will soak into the wood and loosen the bristles.

Ragout of Ripe Olives. Fry 1 chopped onion in butter until yellow. Add 1 tablespoon flour, then ½ cup stock and 1 spoonful olive oil. Remove pits from 1 cup ripe olives and add to the sauce. Cook slowly for 5 minutes. Delicious served over fillet of beef.

Not by starving. Some 25 years ago, scientists found a great cause of excess fat. It lies in an under-active gland. By thousands of tests on fat animals they found that treating this gland led to loss of weight and gain in health and vigor. That discovery changed the methods of dealing with excess fat.

That is the basic factor in Marmola's prescription tablets. People have used them for over 20 years—millions of boxes of them. They did not starve or overwork. They simply took four tablets daily until weight came down to normal.

Users told the others the results. The use of Marmola's spread. Now you see results in every circle. Excess fat is disappearing. Slender figures are the rule. New youth and beauty, new vitality, has come to countless people in this modern way.

Consider these facts. Then, if you are seeing like results, get them in this scientific way. Every box of Marmola's contains the formula, also the reasons for results. As fat departs and new vitality returns you will know exactly why. Try the method which for 20 years has brought such delightful results to so many. Do it now. You owe that to yourself.

Marmola's prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is not, he will get them at once from his jobber.

MARMOLA'S Prescription Tablets. The Pleasant Way to Lose Weight.

Ring's Side

By Ring Lardner

NASSAU, Bahamas, Feb. 4.—Night before last the saxophone player from our hotel thought he would take a walk to relieve his mind of the evening's congestion of noise. This was about 2 in the morning. He strayed outside the hotel grounds and, returning an hour later, found all the gates locked.

Being versed in scales he climbed over the wall and dropped into the yard where he was set upon by the night watchman, former heavy-weight preliminary fighter, and to judge by the subsequent appearance of a saxophone player was not only put out of tune but arrested and told to appear in court yesterday morning, the charge presumably being that he tried to go to bed at night.

The courtroom was crowded for the hearing and most of the spectators seemed to favor the defendant in spite of having often heard him play the saxophone. But his majesty's judge found in favor of the night watchman who had already found in favor of himself, and the saxophone player was fined 10 shillings or $2.50 and left on a promise never again to try to go to bed. The plaintiff alleged that when he set upon the defendant he did not know that he was a saxophone player but it is of the general opinion that nobody could make such a mistake, even a former preliminary fighter.

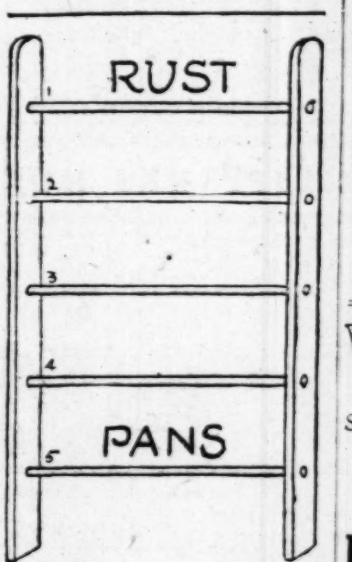

On the other hand it is generally admitted that the saxophone player had no case, having left it in the grill room.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

ROUGHLEG THE HAWK GROWS HUNGRY.

Never lets you quit;
It spurs you on and sharpens wit.
—Old Mother Nature.

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE was growing more and more headstrong. He thought it great fun to go up on the surface of the snow and scamper about there. When the sun was soft, he left little tracks in the snow. He knew that sharp eyes would see these and would know what he meant. Now this is just what did happen.

There had been a light crust over the snow that covered the Green Meadows. Then there had been a very light fall of snow. It was just what Danny needed. He went out to look and look. He climbed his favorite weed stalk and popped out. Then for a while he had a good time, scampering from one weed to another and helping himself to seeds from each. Finally he went down below again. Of course, he had left behind him little footprints all about in the snow. Very early the next morning Blacky the Crow visited the Green Meadows in quest of something to eat. Now Blacky is not only keen-eyed, but he is quick-witted. He understands what he sees. Blacky saw those little tracks in the snow. You see, he was flying low and as he looked down he could see all those little tracks of Danny Meadow Mouse. The interested Blacky right away, "Ah," said he to himself, "A Mouse has been feeding here. If he comes again, I see there are still some seeds on these weeds. I think I'll wait a while and see what happens."

So Blacky alighted on the snow a short distance away. Then, in that steady manner of his, he walked over until he was among the weeds where Danny Meadow Mouse had been feeding and had left his tracks. He looked sharply at all the weeds about him. In a moment or two he discovered what he was looking for. He discovered that close to the stalk of one of these weeds was a hole in the snow. It was just about big enough for a plump Meadow Mouse to pass through. Blacky's eyes twinkled when he saw it. He moved over within striking distance of the hole.

Then he prepared to be patient and wait. As he waited he noticed the things about him. He soon discovered that there were two or three holes in the snow close by the weed stalk. This was rather disappointing. There was no way of telling which one of these holes the Mouse he was waiting for might use.

For a long time nothing happened. Blacky was beginning to get impatient. His feet were getting cold. He was just about to give it up for that day, when he saw one of those weeds shake. Blacky knew instantly that a Mouse was climbing that stalk. He knew too that the Mouse was headless and careless. Otherwise, he would not have shaken that weed so. Blacky hurried to get over there. He wanted to be there to grab that Mouse the instant he should poke his head out of that little hole close beside the weed.

But Blacky was just too late. He was almost there when out popped Danny Meadow Mouse. Blacky hadn't stopped to poke his head out and look around. He had grown so headless that he had stumbled right out. The instant he was out he saw his mistake. There was Blacky the Crow. With a frightened squeal, Danny fled to the next hole. You see, Blacky was too near for him to turn and start down the hole he had just come out of. Half flying, half running, Blacky started after him. It was only a short distance to that hole, but it seemed to Danny that he never would get there. At last, he was very fat and running even that little distance was hard work. Just as he moved down the hole, that little opening in the snow, Blacky made a frantic lunge at him. He caught Danny by the very tip of his tail. Danny squeaked with fright and fear. He felt himself being lifted. He dug his claws into the snowy wall of his little tunnel and pulled. He was to be caught at last by Blacky the Crow.

SHOULD WOMEN BE MADE ELIGIBLE BY LAW FOR JURY DUTY IN MISSOURI?

Public Forum Is Proposed for Discussion of the Question as It Is Presented in the Bill Pending in the Legislature.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN

LAST Wednesday in the Post-Dispatch People's Column there appeared a letter signed "Mrs. G. Russell," in which the writer, in no uncertain language, voiced her opposition to the bill making women eligible for jury duty in Missouri. This measure, now being considered by the Legislature, is thought by its sponsors to be in a promising stage, having been read by both houses and referred to a committee described as "friendly." No person or group of persons is campaigning against the bill. Officially, no dissenting voice has been heard.

On the other hand, a legislative committee drawn from a number of important women's organizations has the measure on their programs for indorsement, and the League of Women Voters as its leading sponsor has a special agent at Jefferson City during the present legislative session zealously looking after the bill and reporting progress to her supporters.

Every argument in favor of making women liable to jury service has been brought to bear. We may be sure, and with due effect, it seems. Yet there must exist in the minds of some women—who know but a majority of women—a doubt as to whether they desire to assume this duty which most men regard as a burdensome one.

That much is heard in favor of the proposed law is because that type of woman who ask for a voice in public affairs and who would take a hand in reshaping things more nearly toward their heart's desires are highly organized and articulate, while those who confine their interests and activities to their own private affairs, by that very token, are not organized and voiceless. Which ever type is right and whichever side of the question of compelling women to sit on juries is right are not the questions with which this particular article is concerned. There is a function of the press, which is printing both sides of a question as it comes into the news. I hereby propose that we hold a public forum on this women's page for discussion of the question whether or not women desire or think it their duty to sit on juries. "Mrs. G. Russell" wrote: "I am quite sure I did not ask her (the legislative agent) to put this burden upon me, and I know quite a few other women who are not craving for jury service, and if she and her kind would stay at home and not try to detain us in some dingy jury room when we should be in our own homes looking after our children and getting our husbands' meals, a great many of us would be more thankful to her."

UPON investigation it was found that, characteristic of the woman who does not want to be identified with public affairs, "Mrs. G. Russell" had given a fictitious name or address. Now it may be just and right that women who are not willing to express their views in public should be content to be governed by those willing to assume that responsibility. That the case of the silent woman should be allowed to go by default. But in this instance it is possible that some of those who have been aroused to a sense of the full import of this proposed law.

Having accepted the franchise, women should be willing to accept the obligations that go with full citizenship. It is logically contended that, unlike the tacit acceptance of the ballot, which you can use at your own discretion—you can take it or leave it alone—jury service, as applied at present, is mandatory upon a man unless he can produce some good and lawful grounds for exemption and presumably a law making women liable to jury duty would impose the same conditions upon them.

All women did not ask for suffrage. That also was a case where, in the will of the more convincing and outspoken leaders prevailed. Had it been left to popular decision instead of a Federal amendment, there is no telling how or when it might have been decided. Other laws that we know of have been imposed by well-organized minorities. The chief worry confronting the proponents of the jury service bill now is said to be the contention of some legislators that it should not be enacted by statute but by constitutional amendment, in which case it would have to be voted upon by all the people.

"MRS. G. RUSSELL" apparently was one who did not demand votes for women, or if she did, has repudiated her stand. She writes further: "The league is interested in the jury bill from the standpoint of raising the standard of justice and checking the breakdown of the jury system. Did women in politics ever raise anything? I say, no. They have proved to be just a little bit worse than the men, so what can we expect of this cigarette-smoking, white-mule drinking generation of today? If we had more old-fashioned fathers and old-fashioned legislators such as she is criticizing, together with a few old-fashioned mothers, we probably would not have so many new-fashioned boys and girl bandits and other criminals today. What we need is more men and she-women, and less she-he males and he-she-males."

While asking for the views of the unorganized, unrepresented women, it may be well to inform her of some of the reasons offered by its proponents on behalf of this bill and some of the provisions included in it.

Certain classes of men are exempt from jury service, among them doctors, lawyers, dentists, ministers, school teachers, pharmacists, ship captains, engineers. In addition it is asked that the following classes of women be exempt: trained nurses, women nursing sick members of their own family and mothers having a child or children under 12 years of age or women having the custody of such children. All persons, whether men or women, if ill or otherwise physically incapacitated.

It is required that women serving on a mixed jury be given separate quarters with a matron in charge.

In almost half the States of the Union women now serve as jurors and a survey made by the League of Women Voters shows that a majority of judges and lawyers in these states strongly advocate women jurors and that in no

States has the law been repealed. "Jury service, whether a privilege or a duty, is an incident of citizenship," states a League leaflet being circulated among the Legislators. "Women do not want to be denied it if a privilege nor evade it if a duty."

"It is mainly on the ground of civic duty that the League asks that women be permitted to serve on Missouri juries. After several years of study the League is convinced that women on juries would raise the standard of justice and help check the breakdown of the jury system about which we hear so much."

"It is possible to secure the best type of women for jury service whereas the best type of men frequently cannot leave their work or business without great sacrifice."

"Women as a class are respecters of law and champions of equality and justice."

"Women jurors are especially needed in cases involving women and girls and cases affecting public morals."

It is easy enough to get the views of women favoring the bill because, as has been pointed out, they usually are of the type not averse to expressing themselves in public. Women who prefer a more secluded existence are not so easily reached unless they voluntarily come forward with their statements. This they are herewith invited to do—in concise letters, which need not be signed for publication but for the sake of authenticity should be accompanied by name and address which upon request will not be printed.

TIPS ON DINING

I AM frequently invited to dinner where there are generally six ladies at the table, and as the personnel is changing constantly, it is necessary to be introduced quite often.

1. Is it correct to remain seated and acknowledge the introduction from one's seat if the dinner has started, or should one stand to acknowledge each one as she strays in, indulging "a woman's privilege?"
2. A doctor friend at the same table always stands when introduced and places a chair for the lady. Rather awkward, it seems to me. But if a lady crosses to the table on the way out for a minute's chat, he remains seated and often I have seen him leave a tip on the table when he is a guest. Please advise what is correct.

ALFRED.
Very interesting questions, sir! 1. Even if the dinner has started, and even if the women guests are often late, and even if this seems awkward, the gentlemen, when they are presented to the arriving woman, must rise. 2. The doctor friend is correct—he should rise and place the chair for the lady. It would be awkward, really, if he did not do this. In the other two things that he does, this friend isn't so right. When a woman stands at his table, whether the table is in a home or a public dining room, he should rise immediately, and should remain standing until she has left, no matter how long she stays. And he should not leave a tip on the table when he is a guest.

OUR Sunday school teacher has sent us, her class, invitations to her church wedding. This does not include the reception.

1. There are seven girls in the class and we would like to know if we are expected to send a present?
2. If so, would it be correct if we all "chipped in" and bought one present? We were thinking of this because we are all of modest means.

THE CIVILIZED ANTS

ASHREWER, busier, and altogether more enterprising lot than a community of ants would be hard to find even among human beings.

Unless one knew better, one might say they were kindly, generous and hospitable. But watching them closely, we are obliged to conclude that they are after all, only efficient business men who arrange to be well paid for their services. Take their attitude toward plant life, or aphids, for instance. They not only offer these little aphids their hospitality and wait upon them hand and foot, they actually carry them from one green pasture to another. And with infinite patience they stroke the little aphids gently with their antennae.

Why so much generosity, one wonders, in a harsh world where each creature is fiercely bent on living at any price? The answer is simple. The friendship and service of the ants is pure self interest. In return for the little aphids give the ants a honeyed milk called "honey dew," which they prize as the choicest of foods. In their generosity toward the mites, also, the ants have the better of the bargain in the end. In payment for their "keep," the mites become the housecleaners of that would be within our means and nice, too?

4. Do you send the present to her home?
W. W.
1. You are not "expected" to send a present—at least, you should not be expected to—but it would be a friendly act for you to send a present if, and only if, you all want to. If you were all devoted to your teacher, it would be quite natural that you would want to express that devotion at this time of happiness for her.

2. Yes, this would be the sensible way to do.
3. A lovely white crystal vase would be charming, and you can get many simple kinds that are effective and inexpensive. Or a beautifully-bound book would be a good present. Or an accessory, in leather, for her desk. Or a half-dozen or a dozen tea napkins. Yes, send the present to her home, addressed to her.

MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE

"GOOD TO THE LAST DROP"

America's most popular coffee ... created by patient, expert BLENDING

BECAUSE coffee is so important, every household has its favorite way of making it. But whether your coffee is percolated, dripped, or boiled in an old-fashioned pot, one thing is above all necessary—the coffee itself must be right to start with.

The creator of the matchless, mellow flavor of Maxwell House Coffee went back to this first principle.

He was a gentleman of the Old South—bred in the South's tradition of good living—and he knew coffee. He had tried them all—the "heady" coffees of Arabia, the mild coffees of Java, the rich and syrupy coffees of Brazil—and every one was tantalizingly not quite perfect. So he had the inspiration to make a new coffee flavor—to combine in one gorgeous drink the diverse virtues of many choice coffees. After months of experimenting, at last his genius triumphed in a coffee which delighted even his critical palate.

It got its first acclaim at the famous old Maxwell House in Nashville. Thence news spread abroad of the unique sparkle and flavor of Maxwell House Coffee until today it is in demand all over the United States.

"The Old Colonel," as he is known to his friends, has lived to see the coffee he perfected become his country's favorite—the choice of America's most prominent hostesses, the fine coffee served in America's foremost homes from one coast to the other.

Your own grocer has Maxwell House Coffee, sealed in tin to preserve all its fragrance and flavor.

Announcement That the Federal Reserve Board Would Issue Statement of Credit Causes Scare.

POOLS STEP ASIDE
IN LATE TRADING

Bears Use Opportunity to Press on High Grade Rail road Shares—Rebound Shorts Cover.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The announcement that the Federal Reserve Board would issue a statement on credit conditions after the close of the market threw a bonfire into the stock market today and prices broke sharply after a morning interval of strength. Early sales of 3 to 5 points were down, or wiped out, and a long list of issues, including several of the industrial favorites, dropped 3 to 10 points. Wright Aeronautics, which was strong yesterday, breaking 18 points by early action, today slipped 10 points in the late trading when the offerings became abundant and bear traders took the opportunity to hammer down high-grade rails. Atchafalpa, Pacific Canadian Pacific and Louisville & Nashville ranged down 4 to 6 points. Several of the steel broke sharply. St. Joseph Lead sold down 7 points and Federal Mining 10. U. S. Steel dropped to 17 1/2 before it shared a late rally.

Prices of from 2 to 6 points from the day's worst prices today in the final trading when exhaustive covering was in progress.
Sales approximated 4,680,000.
Average of 50 industrials declined 1.5 points, 29 rails dropped 1.4 points and 20 utilities were down 1.4 points. Sales approximated 4,480,000 shares.

No information was forthcoming as to the contents of the Federal Reserve statement, but in banking circles the view was expressed that it would deal with the board's attitude on the domestic credit situation. The President of Montana Norman, governor of the Bank England, in Washington was interpreted in some quarters as forshadowing an increase in the Bank of England's discount rate tomorrow. This would have a tendency to check gold imports from Britain and might lead to a withdrawal of British funds from New York.

It was stated later the statement was for release in morning papers.

Local credit conditions were easier. Call money renewed at one cent and dropped to 6 per cent. Large offerings were made in the outside market below the offerings. The day's trade and dividend news continued favorable.
Rock Island directors raised the annual dividend from $5 to $7 and a $2 extra was declared on Per-marquette. The weekly steel trade newspaper continued to take a pessimistic view of the situation. Producers reported that a January report on pig iron production, growing demand for automobile and railroad steel and increasing price strength in a number of mill products confirm the confidence of the steel and steel trade in a sustainable activity during the remainder of the quarter.

At least 10 copper stocks, including Anaconda, Chile, Cerro de Pasco and Granby, moved into new high ground in the early trading on predictions of another increase in the price of the red metal.
The gains, which ran from 1 to 2 points, were practically wiped out in the early afternoon reaction.

Curtis, Radio, Advance Rumely, General Electric, Johns Mansville, American Linseed, Dupont and Clayton Carbide were hammered down 5 to nearly 10 points, and International Telephone, Mount Washington Electric, National Black Register, Western Union, Black Trucks and Chrysler sold down 4 to 6 points lower during the reaction.

Coppers Bought Early.
Buying of the copper shares increased the resumption of the irregular higher price movement at the opening of today's market.
Allied Chemical opened 2 points higher, and initial gains of a point more were recorded by Massey Copper, American Can, Gold Dust Baking and American Bank.
